The three successful candidates for City Council receiving the highest number of votes, H. G. MacBain, Frank L. Muhleman and W. F. Tower, will serve for four years, under the terms of the city charter, while the remaining two successful candidates, S. C. Kinch and C. E. Kimlin, will serve for two years.

"Straight" Tickets Lose
Councilman S. S. Gilhuly and Councilman Sam Davis did not receive sufficient votes to place them on the list of five who would serve as city councilmen.

The fifth member of the City Council, Mayor Spencer Robinson, was not a candidate for re-election, as he and Mrs. Robinson plan to leave for an extended tour of Europe next month.

The tabulation of the votes cast in the twenty precincts show that none of the so-called "straight" tickets put in the field during the days that preceded the election, were successful.

Councilman Harry MacBain, appointed after the death of Asa Hall, received the largest number of votes cast for city councilmen. He polled 462 votes, or more than half the number cast, while L. Muhleman was second with 3910. Wilbur F. Tower was third with 2845 votes. Samuel C. Kinch, a member of the City Planning commission, went into fourth place in the closing hours of the tabulation, with 2311 votes, while Councilman Clarence E. Kimlin came fifth with 2301 votes.

The order in which the other candidates for city councilmen finished, is: S. S. Gilhuly, Sam Davis, E. F. Heisser, Charles F. Stuart, Dr. Paul S. Traxler, James M. Rhoades, J. W. Usilton, John S. Knox, E. C. Williamson, Preston L. Hatch, George H. Seal, Thomas White, Frank Booth, R.

EDITORIAL

Glendale Is Safe

The campaign which closed with the city election Tuesday was one fraught with intense interest, due to the large number of candidates to be voted upon. It was unique in this, and also because the candidates were all good and able men. Of course, some were better qualified for the office than others, but all came to the voters with the highest recommendations for personal integrity and capability.

Public office is the fire that tries men's souls, and some of those elected have yet to prove themselves. Yet we are firm in the faith that the city is safe in the hands of those to whom the voters commended it, and we believe that our splendid growth and development is to continue without interruption.

The electorate has spoken, but its responsibility has not ceased. We owe it to those we have elected to uphold their hands in the task that is before them. We may not agree with them always in the way they look at questions that will come up for consideration, but that will not necessarily make them scoundrels or grafters. We believe they are the kind of men who will take constructive and sincere criticism kindly. We believe they want to be good officials and have resolved to give Glendale a good administration. It is the duty of every citizen to uphold and encourage them in this resolve.

Members-Elect Of Glendale City Council

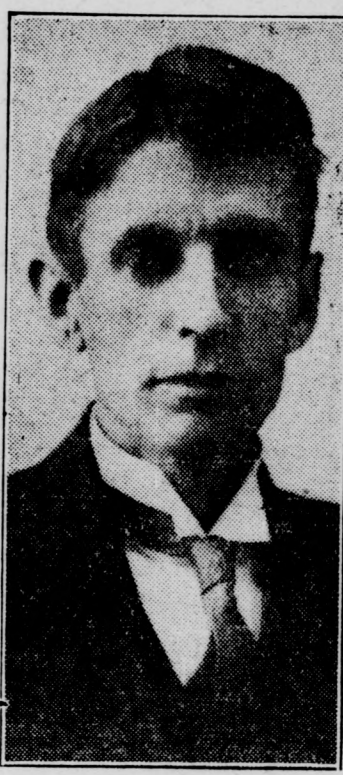

H. G. MACBAIN

Harry G. MacBain, for sixteen years a resident and business man of Glendale, held his first political position in this city when he was appointed to the City Council last December, following the death of Councilman Asa Hall. Yesterday he was returned to the office by the largest vote polled by any of the twenty-one candidates in the field. At a late hour last night as he stepped from his automobile in front of The Glendale Evening News office to hear final remarks, a great crowd of citizens hailed him as Glendale's next mayor.

Mr. MacBain led the ticket with 4622 votes. His nearest competitor, Frank L. Muhleman, ended nearly 600 votes behind him. When The Glendale Evening News announced that the people of Glendale would be permitted to nominate their choices for council through the columns of this paper, Mr. MacBain was the third to receive more than fifty endorsements. The last public statement of Mr. MacBain before the election was that he had come to Glendale as a young man with but little worldly goods. All he has, he made here, he said, and for this reason he wished to serve on the council in an effort to pay a debt of appreciation to the city. Last night Mr. MacBain said he was gratified to know he would be able to serve Glendale during the next four years.

Prominent In Business
Mr. MacBain was born at Grand Rapids, Mich., forty years ago. Before coming to California, twenty years ago, he was manager for the C. W. Post Cereal Co. at Battle Creek. Mr. MacBain first went into business in Glendale with the Shaver Grocery Co., later absorbing that concern under the name of MacBain Grocery. The new councilman is heavily interested in industrial, real estate development and a number of subdivision projects in and near Glendale. He is a member of the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, where he has served with distinction. He is also a leading member of Glendale Kiwanis club.

Mr. MacBain lives with his wife at 614 East Lomita avenue. He has no children. In fraternal circles he is well known, being a member of Glendale Elks lodge, Unity lodge F. & A. M., Unity chapter, the Glendale commandery Knights Templar.

F. L. MUHLEMAN

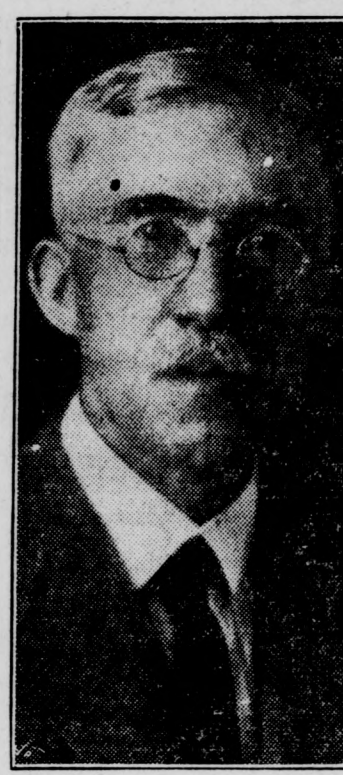

Frank L. Muhleman, second highest man in the municipal election yesterday, is not a new figure in Glendale political life. Mr. Muhleman comes back victorious with 3910 votes, after having served one term on the board of trustees of Glendale from 1916 to 1920. At that time Mr. Muhleman was chairman of the board, a position similar to that of "mayor" under the present system. Earlier in the history of Glendale Mr. Muhleman, a lawyer of wide experience, served as city attorney. This was during the years of 1910-11. In 1912 he acted as chairman of a board of freeholders who at that time prepared a charter for the city. Mr. Muhleman was one of the popular nominees for the council made by people of Glendale through the columns of The Glendale Evening News at the outset of the present campaign. Mr. Muhleman first came to Glendale in 1906, the year of the city's birth as an incorporated municipality. During his first few years of residence here he was identified with the legal department of the Title Trust & Insurance Co. Later he opened a law office in Los Angeles which he maintains at the present time.

One of Pioneers
The Ohio valley was the birthplace of Mr. Muhleman fifty-five years ago. He first practiced law in Kentucky, moving later to Parkersburg, W. V., where he engaged in the law practice until coming to California in 1905.

Mr. Muhleman was connected not only with the political life of Glendale from the outset, but was active in the commercial growth of the city also. He was one of the men who organized the original Glendale News Printing & Publishing Co. Other civic projects in the early days were backed by Mr. Muhleman.

In 1914 Democrats of the assembly district of which Glendale is a part chose Mr. Muhleman as their candidate for the state assembly. During the World war he was appointed by the governor of California on the draft board. When the present freeholders charter was formulated Mr. Muhleman was again called upon, serving as a member of the freeholders' board.

Mr. Muhleman is married and has three children. He resides at 227 North Louise street.

W. F. TOWER

Running as a candidate after his popular nomination through the columns of The Glendale Evening News, Wilbur F. Tower polled the third largest vote in the councilmanic race yesterday, thus becoming elected to the council for a four-year term, along with Harry G. MacBain and Frank L. Muhleman. Mr. Tower polled a total of 2845 votes.

Mr. Tower was born in Rome, N. Y., in 1868, and at an early age moved to New Jersey. In the city of Vineland, N. J., he lived for a period of more than forty years, incidentally serving on the City Council of that municipality for four years. Mr. Tower was in business in Vineland during virtually all the time he resided there. In 1915 he sold his business and other real estate holdings and made the trip to California, coming direct to Glendale.

For some years Mr. Tower engaged in the building business here, erecting his own houses in most instances. He is an extensive owner of business and other income property throughout the city.

Industrial Expansion
The office of city councilman is the first sought by Mr. Tower since coming to Glendale. Today, commenting on the result of the municipal election he expressed satisfaction at his success.

"I ran strictly as an independent," he said, "and, although I have lived in Glendale for a number of years, I have not been overly active in social and fraternal circles, so that I have not as wide an acquaintance as I might have had. Regardless, I was named to the council by a big vote. I feel that voters of Glendale placed confidence in my honesty, and I will endeavor to serve them faithfully."

In announcing his platform, prior to election, Mr. Tower came out strongly in favor of greater industrial expansion in Glendale as the best means of stabilizing real estate values and insuring a solid business and commercial foundation. Honesty, economy and efficiency he placed at the head of his pledge to the voters.

Mr. Tower resides with his wife and two daughters at 328 North Maryland street. A son is away from home at college at the present time.

S. C. KINCH

Samuel C. Kinch, elected to the City Council yesterday, was born at Port Austin, Mich., in 1867. He was educated in the public schools there, later going to Chicago, where he graduated from the National Institute of Pharmacy. After engaging in this profession for some time, Mr. Kinch went to the state of Washington, where he later became interested in the banking business.

"I guess I can qualify as the 'hobo councilman,'" Mr. Kinch said today. "There weren't any jobs in the northwest when I went to Spokane, and, although I had a good education, I could find nothing to do. I slung my pack over my back and rode the breakers into the state. Later I swung a pick and shovel on the streets of Spokane, on the spot where the downtown section now stands."

As vice-president of the First National bank of Spokane, Wash., for seven years, Mr. Kinch became actively identified with the development of that country. He also engaged in ranching, raising stock and grain on a large scale. When he came to Glendale, in 1917, he disposed of all his vast Washington holdings save for an approximate 100 acres of land.

Retired From Business
Mr. Kinch first engaged in the real estate business in this city, mainly handling his own properties. He is now retired from business however. As a member of the City Planning commission, Mr. Kinch has been closely connected with public affairs in Glendale for some time. His decision to seek election to the council came after his name had been placed in nomination through the columns of The Glendale Evening News by a large number of Mr. Kinch's friends.

Mr. Kinch is married and has two children. His son resides at the family residence at 600 East Colorado street. Mr. Kinch is a member of the Masonic order and of the Odd Fellows. He is president of the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association.

PORTFOLIO OF FINANCE IS TENDERED CAILLAUX

New Prime Minister Calls
Once Powerful Politician
For Conference

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service
PARIS, April 15.—Paul Painleve, who accepted today the premiership, will have Joseph Caillaux as his minister of finance, it was authoritatively predicted in parliamentary circles tonight.

One of the first acts of Painleve on taking the office Edouard Herriot dramatically resigned last week, was to summon Caillaux from his home at Marnes. The war government of Premier Clemenceau sent Caillaux to prison as a traitor, but it has been persistently rumored that Caillaux' genius as a financier has been back of all the moves made recently to extricate France from its financial chaos.

An effort by Deputy Louis Marin to have the four billion franc increase law of the Bank of France declared illegal was rejected by the chamber with a vote of 388 to 164.

Ratify Measure
The chamber ratified the measure allowing the Bank of France to increase its circulation four billion francs. The law for the financial salvation of France was held up when the nationalist socialists blocs announced they would abstain from voting for it because it did not provide for amortizations. The session was adjourned.

Although Aristide Briand was in conference with Painleve, Briand denied he had been offered a place in the cabinet.

The chamber by a vote of 309 to 175 adopted an amendment offered by the Socialists. It provided that the four billion franc increase granted the Bank of France shall be limited to July 15.

Political Crisis
The appointment of Painleve by President Doumergue culminated one of the most perplexing political problems of the French republic. Painleve previously had declined to take the premiership, but was influenced by leaders of the radical socialist party to alter his determination.

He has strong support among the various factions in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, although it was predicted in parliamentary circles that any cabinet he might form—or anyone else might form—would not last more than a month.

Bank Threatens
M. Robineau, the governor of the Bank of France, has again threatened to close not only the bank's main office in Paris, but the multitude of branch banks throughout the country if the necessary legislation is not enacted to legalize the over-issue of the bank's credit.

The foreign office announced that Painleve had offered the portfolio of foreign affairs to M. Herriot. His acceptance was considered doubtful not only because he needs a rest from his strenuous political issues, it was said, but also because he must begin the campaign for summer elections. It was said that if Herriot refused the portfolio, Painleve would offer it to Briand.

'Love's Whirlpool' Opens At Glendale Theatre Today;
Kirkwood Star

A picture without a fight or a drink is "Love's Whirlpool," the latest Hodgkinson release in which James Kirkwood and his wife, Lila Lee, are appearing.

Since pictures made their first flicker on the screen, fighting and drinking scenes have been used over and over again to lend action to the plot. But Bruce Mitchell, who directed "Love's Whirlpool," which opens this afternoon and tonight at the Glendale theatre, decided an enthralling drama could be made without either fistfights or whiskey. So, in adapting Martha Lord's novel, "The Inner Sight," for the screen in collaboration with Elliott Clawson, Mitchell eliminated the fighting and drinking. Instead, he offered a hold-up, a safe robbery, a shipwreck by fire, a clever escape from prison, a clairvoyant's parlor, a raid by the police, a thrilling dash to freedom, a weird mystery of occult forces and a transport of human regeneration to make his drama a potent vehicle of gripping action.

Element of Mystery
Drama is a vivid exposition of emotional glamour and Mitchell has kept this in mind in filming "Love's Whirlpool," which he considers his best picture since he started his climb to celluloid glory by discovering Norma Talmadge in "Captivating Mary Carstairs."

The thread of spiritualism that runs through "Love's Whirlpool" supplies an element of mystery that keeps the mind ever on the alert.

On the stage two exceptional vaudeville numbers will be presented. Polly Moran, whose name will be remembered by picture fans of not so long ago as one of the most prominent of the Mack Sennett comedy actresses and former leading lady to Ben Turpin, will appear in person.

Dana Mack, in a singing and comedy skit, are also billed.

Grand View Delegates At Pasadena Meeting

Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of Grand View Community church, announces that there will be no prayer-meeting services tonight on account of the meeting of semi-annual Presbytery in Pasadena. George Miller, Harvey Cheesman and J. P. Moody, elders of Grand View church, will attend the sessions and prosecute the call of Rev. Thomas as minister for the Grand View Community church.

The board members selected today to hear the contested cases are Judges A. E. Graupner, Percy W. Phillips and Charles M. Trammell. Hearings will commence in Milwaukee early in May.

'MANNA' SHOWS ALL ESSENTIALS

Laughs, Tears, Suspense
Contained In Players'
Current Drama

Although a great many people get spiritual meaning out of "Manna," which the Dobinson Players are presenting for the last times this week at Glendale Playhouse, everyone enjoys it to the full as good drama.

The three requirements of a strong play, according to a distinguished New York playwright and producer are: "Make 'em laugh, make 'em cry, make 'em wait." Let us see how the author of "Manna," Miss Olga Printzlau, meets these injunctions.

There are laughs aplenty in the first episode when the soldiers in the hospital are being entertained first by the solemn and strait-laced committee and afterwards by the effervescent "Peanuts," the chorus girl, and her friends. There is also genuine humor in "Nellie" O'Brien's debate with Peter Linden on whether or not it is worth while to pray.

"Nellie's" confusion of Peter by his apt and apparently contradictory Bible passages has more than a spice of mischief and the retorts of the crippled O'Brien are so cleverly worked out and so spontaneous that their sound that laughter follows inevitably.

Final Episode
Then in the final episode, when "Nellie," after the curing of Peter by faith, assumes the title and rank of "chief scripture shooter around here" there are roars of mirth. This dialogue is delicious. For instance, "Nellie" says that they can all recover their health if they have faith as Peter did—"dat's de dope he used."

"Does it say anything about bein' gassed?" poor Gooie wistfully wants to know, pointing to the Bible.
"Aw, it ain't classified!" scornfully returns "Nellie."

There are some tears, too. In the second episode, when the girl of the streets resolves to go straight after she has received manna—the message which reads: "In my Father's house there are many mansions; I go to prepare."

POLA NEGRI STAR IN GATEWAY FILM

'East of Suez,' Tale of Orient
Gives Polish Actress
Fine Vehicle

"East of Suez," a new Paramount picture, starring Pola Negri, which the Gateway theatre today only. The picture is an adaptation by Sada Cowan of W. Somerset Maugham's Broadway stage hit of the same name. Edmund Lowe, Rockcliffe Fellowes and Noah Beery are featured in support of the star.

The story tells of a young girl returning to China after an absence which has lasted since her childhood. En route she receives a wire saying that her only relative, her father, is dead. She arrives in China without friends, and is immediately tormented by the unwelcome attentions of a white man and a Chinese nobleman.

The one man for whom she cares, George Tevis (Edmund Lowe), is informed by his uncle, the British consul, played by Noah Beery, that Daisy (Pola) is really a Chinese half-caste, and as such is impossible as a wife. Tricked into deserting her, Conway is sent into the interior, presumably on official business, leaving the girl to fight a lonely battle against her two suitors.

Between Two Evils
Choosing between two evils, Daisy takes what appears to be the lesser and marries the white man. The marriage proves a tragedy, for her husband is told that her old Chinese nurse is Daisy's mother.

Coming back from the interior, Conway is compelled by his love for Daisy to call her on the telephone in the hope of again seeing her. She has been warned by her husband that he will kill her if she sees George again. Thinking her husband is out of the city, she invites Tevis to dinner.

Just as the meal is about to be served, her husband, played by Rockcliffe Fellowes, returns. "East of Suez" is said to be one of the most unusual stories which has ever been presented in motion picture form.

There will also be the usual Wednesday evening feature of select vaudeville.

LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, April 15.—Members of the Home Economics department of the La Crescenta Woman's club held a profitable meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Shirley Wetmore on Valtonia drive. About forty women were present. Luncheon was served by Mesdames Blanche Hopkins, Claire Robinson and A. V. Adkins, who assisted the hostess. Cakes for the luncheon were supplied by courtesy of Mrs. F. Summerville of the Swadlow Cake Co. Mrs. Summerville described the contents of the various folders prepared by this company. Mrs. William Reed demonstrated the different artistic adornments the housewife can make at a minimum cost, showing plaques, candles, holders and book-ends made by her after instructions received in art departments of Glendale stores. A vote of thanks was given the Simpson Hardware Co. for the use of the glassware; to Caswell Coffee Co. for beverages. The women were told of the fine selection of summer dress goods just received by the Scanlon Dry Goods Co. of Montrose. Mrs. Scanlon also handles hemstitching and makes buttonholes.

Following instructions by Mrs. Milo Giese the members hemmed dish towels for the new clubhouse kitchen. Mrs. John Martin, chairman of the Household Managers' program, introduced speakers with appropriate speeches. Mrs. Conway told of "Managing a Home" in a clear manner. Mrs. Conway has made diet and balanced menus a study. She gave a number of helpful suggestions to members. The efficiency of labor-saving devices was well taken care of by Mrs. Rinette Slutman, who also spoke on the newer finishings in the woodwork of the new houses. Mrs. C. A. Haskins gave a splendid outline on the training of children in the home. Mrs. Haskins has four children, the eldest of whom is in the last year of high school.

Roll call was answered, each member giving her idea of the most essential thing needed for the home. "Love" seemed to be the ruling factor in the minds of the club women.

After much discussion, it was voted by the majority that the Economics department should not be wholly responsible for the supervised barn dance, but should cooperate with the Ways and Means committee.

Mrs. C. A. Haskins as the chairman appointed by Herbert Hoover to take charge of Better Homes week in the valley, gave an outline of the work and the names of the organizations and merchants working with her to make that week a success. Those interested are: A. E. Sullivan of the Bettington Lumber Co.; A. T. Blanford of the schools, who will cooperate in the art class; M. E. Kemper of the Improvement association; James Brown of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce; W. Hoffman of the Legion; Mesdames Hopkins and R. Q. MacDonald of Highway Highland, will have charge of the music section. The Realty board and the local bank will help by giving a thrift demonstration.

Mrs. A. E. Hopkins spoke on Music week to be held in May, asking the women interested to attend the music section of the club which meets at the home of Mrs. C. A. Haskins every Friday afternoon. Mrs. Merritt, curator of the Home Economics department, presented the bills for the luncheon held last month at the home of Mrs. C. M. Turck, president of the club.

Roundtable talks on the home concluded discussions. Mrs. C. A. Haskins will open her home next month to the department. Mrs. Conway has consented to take charge of planning the barn dance supper.

Mrs. Fanny Whitehall of Porto Rico and Los Angeles is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. G. Merwin of Waltonia drive.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cochran entertained friends at Easter for dinner at their home on East Montrose avenue. Tables were dotted with tiny chicks, colored eggs. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Peterson of Los Angeles and Mrs. Olive Mix of Hollywood.

Mrs. E. Wilson of Whittier is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lee Merritt. Mrs. William Reed of Briggs Terrace is entertaining her sister, Miss Esther Stockholm of Chicago.

Children of the Sunday school of St. Luke's of the Mountains were entertained yesterday afternoon with an Easter party by the teachers. Place cards, the work of Elizabeth Talbot Martin, were at each cover, the ice cream and cake also carried out the Easter idea. An egg hunt rewarded the children with numbers of tiny candy eggs. Small candy chicks were used as favors. About forty children enjoyed the party.

Harry Fowler of Verdugo City has just returned from Chicago, where he spent the past four weeks on business. Mr. Fowler was the principal speaker yesterday at the Verdugo Hills Merchants' association weekly luncheon, held at the Fowler auditorium, corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues. Mr. Fowler recently returned to the alley full of enthusiasm and glad to be back in California after a stay in Chicago. The speaker gave a short outline on the carnival which the Verdugo Chamber of Commerce is planning May 1. Next week each member of the association will give his idea of incorporation in the valley.

SENATE AGAIN GETS 3-CENT GAS BILL

Sponsors Predict Defeat At Reconsideration Of Highway Measure

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Passed in the Senate by a vote of 22 to 18, after a five-hour drive by the opposition to delay action, the Breed 3-cent gasoline tax bill was again scheduled to come before the upper house today on a motion for reconsideration made by Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez.

Sponsors of the highway financing measure expressed confidence this morning that the attempt at reconsideration today would be promptly rejected, with the result that the bill will be sent to the Assembly, where it is said to be assured of a favorable vote.

Proposed Changes
During the course of the long fight to kill the bill in the Senate, five attempts were made to write into the measure amendments brought forth by its opponents.

The proposed amendments, all of which were defeated, took the form of two proposals to allocate the bay shore highway into the bill, a plan to exempt the license tax to municipal departments, a sign that the bill be rewritten to provide for the allotment of the present 2-cent tax surplus to new roads and an amendment to split the revenue under the bill 50-50 north and south.

POMONA COLLEGE ALUMNI IN DRIVE

Local Members Hear Plans To Raise $3,000,000 Endowment Fund

Working in the interest of their alma mater in an endowment campaign to raise $3,000,000, Pomona college alumni and ex-students gathered for dinner last night at First Congregational church, to hear Frank H. Harwood, general chairman, and Dean Jaqua discuss plans.

The dinner launched the local unit of the drive among alumni and ex-students to raise $150,000 towards a retirement fund for members of the college faculty. When this amount is raised the Carnegie Foundation will give $50,000, which will make the retiring fund $200,000, it was said.

College colors, blue and white, were used in decoration. Dinner was served by women of the church. College songs were sung under the leadership of Florence Hoover Rogers and James Judy. Mr. Harwood presided, outlining plans for the campaign, and reporting accomplishments. Dean Jaqua, who recently returned from a trip throughout the country visiting colleges and universities, predicted a brilliant future for Pomona. James Judy, active alumni in the campaign, also spoke.

W. L. Jencks, chairman of the local committee, announced that during the next few days local Pomona alumni and former students will have an opportunity to aid in the campaign.

TROOPS HUNT ATTACKERS OF KING

Bulgarian Ruler Escapes As Two Of Party Killed By Bandit Gang

By CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE
For International News Service.
SOFIA, April 15.—Bulgarian troops today were in pursuit of the bandit gang, believed made up of Communists, who attacked King Boris' automobile and killed two of his party as the Bulgarian ruler was yesterday returning from Orhanie to Sofia.

The attack came almost at the same time that General Kymon Georgidif, leading member of the government party, was slain by two young men as he left a church in Sofia. The assailant, believed also to be a Communist, escaped through the crowd. The chauffeur of the king's car and the chauffeur of a young officer of the National museum, were killed in the bandit attack.

King Courageous
It is not believed the bandits knew they were attacking the king. He showed the greatest courage, according to other members of the party. When the chauffeur was mortally wounded, King Boris seized the wheel and piloted the car down a dangerous hill. He caught up with a motor bus which had turned and fled toward Orhanie when the bandits attacked and leaped from his own car into the bus. According to one report, the ruler was slightly wounded, a bullet just grazing his lips.

The bus sped to Orhanie and troops were sent after the bandits. A battalion of soldiers armed with machine guns then accompanied the king to Sofia.

Communists Suspected
Documents dropped by the assailants connected them directly with the Communists, it was announced.

After the attack, the king went to Arambonack and returned to the scene with a company of soldiers. He found the bodies of his chauffeur and Itchoff riddled with bullets.

The assailants had fled, but in their haste had dropped papers. Examination of these papers showed the Communists were planning a Communist coup.

The government later issued a proclamation setting aside one day for national thanksgiving for the saving of the king's life.

ARMADA SAILS FOR BATTLE IN HAWAII

Fleet Of 145 Steel Warriors Draw Anchor In Golden Gate Today

By MILLER HOLLAND
For International News Service.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The mightiest armada ever assembled under the stars and stripes, 145 thunder-striking ships of steel, manned by 45,000 officers and men, including sixteen admirals, was to get under way from San Francisco harbor today headed for Hawaii, where it will participate in the greatest combined army and navy maneuvers ever held by the United States.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the mine-sweeping division pulled anchor, towing paravanes about the entrance to the Golden Gate and through a theoretic mine field supposed to have been laid by an "enemy" fleet off shore.

Actual war conditions will prevail from the moment the ships leave port.

A mile behind the mine-sweeping squadron will follow the U. S. S. Wyoming, flagship of Vice-Admiral J. S. McKean, commander of the scouting fleet. On each side of the Wyoming will be three fast cruisers.

Battle Formation
Back of the Wyoming and her escort will be more destroyers, all in battle formation, followed by ten huge dreadnaughts.

Next will follow the craft that keep the fighting ships in fighting trim—repair and supply ships, hospital ships and other auxiliaries. The auxiliary fleet will be flanked on both sides by nine submarines of the S type, the underwater vessels being conveyed by a division of destroyers and a mother ship for each flank. These tanks will trail out far back of the last auxiliary craft, forming the rear guard of the fleet, ready to ward off any surprise attacks.

Four hours will be required for this armada to steam through the Golden Gate.

JAPAN DISCOUNT RATE IS REDUCED

Leading Banking Institution Charges One Per Cent Less On Notes

TOKIO, April 15.—The Bank of Japan today reduced the discount rate from 8.03 per cent to 7.3 per cent, the first change in the rate since 1919. The reduction was made possible, according to a bank statement, due to the better condition of the institution brought about by healthier business throughout the empire.

Private bankers and Japanese business men generally, however, looked with disfavor upon the reduction, claiming the present time was inopportune for such action and that renewal of inflation was one of the attendant possibilities.

Coincident with the bank announcement the imperial department of finance reduced from 7 to 6 per cent the price on paper currency issued in excess of supporting gold reserves.

FRANK EVARTS CALLED BY DEATH

Pioneer Resident Of City Passes Away At Home On Central Avenue

Frank H. Evaris, sr., for sixteen years a loyal resident and business man of Glendale, died Tuesday April 14, 1925, at the family home, 163 South Central avenue, after ill-health of a year and serious illness of six weeks. His death marks the passing of an highly-esteemed citizen and a business man and the closing of a career closely related to the phenomenal growth of Glendale.

Coming to Glendale in 1909, when the middle of Central avenue marked the western city limits, Mr. Evaris built his home at 163 South Central avenue, the first house in the Glendale Valley View tract.

Born In Illinois

In 1915 he established the Central Supply station on property 95 by 115 feet, he owned at Broadway and Central avenue. At that time it was the only supply station in Glendale and through the years since Mr. Evaris built up a fine business, which is flourishing today and will be carried on by his son, Frank H. Evaris, jr., of Los Angeles. Mr. Evaris was ardently devoted to his business interests and made many friends in serving the public.

Mr. Evaris was born December 5, 1857, in Sterling, Ill. He lived there during boyhood and later lived for many years in Dexter, Mich. He was associated with his father in the grain and mill business. In 1898 Mr. Evaris came to Los Angeles, where he was superintendent of construction for the firm formerly known as Billickie-Rowan Co. After the earthquake in 1904 in San Francisco the company sent Mr. Evaris to build the first brick building built in San Francisco after the disaster.

Funeral Thursday
A member of the Elks' lodge, the Foresters, the Glendale Horse-shoe club, and of Episcopal faith, Mr. Evaris had hosts of friends to regret his passing. Surviving him are Mrs. Evaris, Mary E. Evaris, a daughter, Mabelle M. Evaris, a son, Frank H. Evaris, jr., of Los Angeles; and a sister, Minnie E. Valentine of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Co., 137 North Orange street. The Elks will officiate. Interment will take place in Forest Lawn Memorial park.

FILMS SEEK SITE WITHIN GLENDALE

C. of C. Told Newly Formed Company Aims To Give Clean Productions

The Standard Pictures corporation, headed by Rev. C. Sidney Maddox, D. D., Los Angeles pastor, and having for its purpose the production of "cleaner movies," may locate its $500,000 contemplated studio in Glendale if a suitable site is made available here. Dr. Maddox announced last night to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Standard Pictures corporation wants to locate somewhere outside Hollywood for obvious reasons," Dr. Maddox told the board, "and although we have had tempting overtures from a dozen other cities, we are inclined to favor Glendale if a location can be got here. Conditions for taking moving pictures in Glendale are even better than in Hollywood and we would like to come here."

High Class Films
The new movie concern proposes to produce high class pictures under the supervision of well known directors, featuring noted stars of the silver sheet. "Pictures that can be shown in schools and churches without objection and entertainment of children and the young. A site from five to ten acres in extent will be necessary to house the proposed studio. At least two big companies will be kept busy on the lot all the time," Dr. Maddox said.

Included in the list of officers of the Standard Pictures corporation appear the names of leaders in religious, educational and motion picture circles of Los Angeles. Headed by Dr. Maddox, the list includes Rev. Rufus Keyser, D. D.; O. W. Wahlstrom and Clarence G. Badger as vice-presidents and Roy A. Whaley, as secretary-treasurer.

Board of Censors
In order to insure pictures of the highest type, a board of censors has been named to pass on the finished film as well as the stories and scenarios selected. This board consists of Judge Victor McLucas, of the Los Angeles superior court; Dr. Burney S. Hudson, associate pastor to Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher; Dean Montgomery of the University of Southern California, and Mrs. S. L. Wheeler, W. C. T. U. leader.

Contracts for distribution have been let to a distributing corporation headed by L. S. Cowford, well known figure in the picture world who also addressed the Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday afternoon. Both he and Dr. Maddox stressed the advantageous publicity Glendale would receive in having their proposed studio. Their pictures will be shown in all parts of the world, they said.

MEMBERSHIP HEAR THREE SPEAKERS

Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., Presides At Meeting; Reports Are Given

Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., first vice-president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, presided over club activities yesterday in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who is attending the district convention at Santa Barbara.

The noon luncheon was featured by three most interesting speakers: Dr. Anne E. Rude, for six years director of the Child Hygiene bureau, Washington, D. C., and now consultant of the Los Angeles county health department; Mrs. Henry F. Wright, district chairman of co-operation with ex-service men and women, and Levi Chubbuck of Glendale, for many years connected with the federal Indian service. They were introduced by Dr. Margaret M. York, chairman of public health for the club; Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, chairman of co-operation with ex-service men and women, and Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, chairman of Indian welfare.

Possessed of a very magnetic personality, and in command of a wealth of knowledge and enthusiasm on the subject of public health, Dr. Rude outlined the development of public health activity in the United States. "United States was the first country in the world to have a department devoted to child welfare," she stated. This bureau was organized in 1913 and the immediate work started on study of the cause of infant mortality cut the rate in half, adding four years to the average span of life of the American population. She told of the co-operation of forty-two states in support of the Sheppard-Towner act, for protection of mothers and infants.

Speaks on Health

Dr. Rude devotes much of her time to pre-natal work and yesterday she emphasized the need of proper pre-natal care and later proper nutrition, growth, habit formation and prevention of infection. She advocated the teaching of parenthood. "Health is not dodging disease, it is the art of right living. We should teach the young of America to think of health as positive," was the thought she left with her audience. Dr. Etta Gray, Los Angeles physician, was also a guest of Dr. York, and responded briefly when introduced.

Mrs. Wright, who has accomplished much in her department of co-operation with ex-service men and women in the district, gave a resume of the report of the year's activities she will give at the district convention now in session at Santa Barbara. She paid high tribute to Mrs. Gilliland and co-operation received from the Tuesday Afternoon club. The closing feature of her talk was the announcement that the district is to sponsor a nursery for children of ex-service men and women at Sawtelle.

Plan Entertainment
Mrs. Gilliland announced that on May 2 the Tuesday Afternoon club will entertain 200 ex-service

If the opposition party tried helping the administration for six months?
If the money spent on cosmetics could be expended for education?
If investors made it a habit to consult their bankers first?
If the judges did the cross-questioning, instead of lawyers?
If God should take the profane man at his word?
If the picture were as bad as the advertising leads us to believe?
If righteousness became as much a national ambition as prosperity?

IT CAN'T BE DONE

Youth never listens to age. The young are seldom guided by the experience of the old. You may cite the boy and girl to myriads of instances where the first wrong step led to continued wrongdoing and eventually to ruin, but they find it impossible to seriously apply such experiences to their own lives. This trait of youth which insists upon making its own experiments and finding out for itself the reactions of conduct upon life has cost society dearly—in one way. Youth's response to the challenge, "It can't be done," has filled the jails and hospitals and almshouses and been the cause of much of the world's poverty, disease and crime.

On the other hand, where would the world be if youth accepted every dictum of age? It is a good thing that there are those who refuse to believe that "it can't be done" because it has never been done. We would still be living in caves, with all the concomitants of the life of prehistoric man if the response of human kind to all advice and warning were acquiescence.

While some are easily influenced and as easily discouraged it is a challenge to many an embryo thief to tell him, "You can't steal and get away with it. It has never been done." And it is this same characteristic that impels the would-be scientist, inventor, explorer, trail-blazer and business man to resolve to prove that it can be done.

Progressivism is the keynote of the human race. Read history from the faraway dim ages of the inception of the race. It is a story of the conquest by man of his environment. Man, through his urge to do things that have never been done and that he has been told cannot be done, has gone far in subduing the earth, the sea and the elements and training them to do his will and pleasure.

There is only one way in which a high-spirited boy or girl will accept the challenge, "It can't be done." It is not much use to try to prove that wrongdoing does not pay. The youth who is criminally inclined will not believe you, because it is innate in him to think he can be successful in whatever he undertakes, and also because crime does sometimes pay, as far as the world can see.

You must go further back than that. Teach the child the beauty of right. Give him a proper perspective of life and its meaning. Teach him that right thinking is all important. Then he will instinctively use his energy and his inborn progressivism in a way to add to the sum of the world's good instead of its evil and crime.

LOOK FOR RUSSIAN "NEWS"

The Soviet government of Russia is said to be preparing for a drive for recognition by the United States, and we may look for many columns of Russian "news" from Leningrad, Berlin, Paris, London and Washington.

A statement is now being circulated in diplomatic circles in Washington in which it is claimed that the American government initiated preliminary negotiations looking to the resumption of relations with Russia two years ago.

This refers to former Governor Goodrich of Indiana spending many months in Russia as an unofficial observer for President Harding. He reported that it would be futile to expect any change in conditions in Russia for a long time, but President Harding's death interfered with his taking any action on the report. Secretary Hughes and President Coolidge have been firm against any conference with Russian leaders until they agree to abide by the fundamentals of international law. Senator Borah is, of course, in favor of recognition of the Soviet government, although he has not been so active in the interest of Russia of late. But a new drive is on and we may expect much propaganda in favor of Russia very shortly, it is said.

"I HAVE BEEN A FOOL"

There is hope for young Osborn Wood. He has had the courage to do what many older and apparently wiser and better men could not do. Returning to this country from Europe, where he squandered his fortune, he acknowledged his fault like the prodigal son of long ago. He said, "I have made a fool of myself," which is modern parlance for: "Father, I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight and am no more worthy to be called thy son."

We have all—from king to court jester—made fools of ourselves at one time or another, although we may never have had fortunes to squander. Sometimes we have lacked the sense to know we were foolish. At other times we have acknowledged the truth to ourselves. But it is only the very courageous who say it aloud. We have a mistaken idea that no one will know we have been foolish unless we tell them. Seeing our mistakes and acknowledging them is the first step toward overcoming them. We admire young Wood for his fearlessness and bespeak for him the same kind of welcome that was given the prodigal son.

LET COUZENS KEEP IT

Most of us complain about high taxes and the way our government is administered, and at the same time we acknowledge that we do not take enough interest in government affairs.

A mathematician estimates that if the government succeeds in collecting that $11,000,000 income tax assessment against Senator Couzens it will mean an average saving of 10 cents per person for the rest of us in future income taxes. Most of us would be inclined to say, "Don't bother. What is 10 cents to me?"

This is the real reason for the evils that creep into government and for the irregularity of officials. It is easier to allow them to continue than to bother about them. And as for high taxes, as long as we live up to a standard where we say, "What's 10 cents to me?" we shall have high taxes, for extravagance in the private lives of the people goes hand in hand with extravagance in government.

German efforts to help Russia to her feet are fair enough. Germany put her where she is.

These conferences have at least taught us that Ford's isn't the only one who can make flivvers.

"AFTER YOU, MY DEAR GASTON!"

Women Doctors

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Barnard College has recently been making some investigation regarding women as physicians.

It finds that about five per cent of the physicians and surgeons of the United States are women, and they are making rapid strides in preventive medicine. It finds that field will be profitable for women, because their numbers are small.

"The educational requirements for medicinal practice have kept the field of doctors rather limited," the report says. At present, women having been only recently admitted into the practice of medicine, they confine their work to certain phases such as non-surgical gynecology, obstetrics, and pediatrics. But they are steadily invading other fields, and their work in preventive medicine is notable.

There are many women engaged in government employ, and the results of their contribution to industrial medicine have been considerable.

There is no doubt that there is room for women in the medical profession. There are certain things that they can understand and deal with better than men.

A doctor often almost occupies the place of a mother, and all that is the matter with many sick people is that they need mothering. The mother instinct is strong in women, and enables them to deal wisely with those who need their help.

There is no reason why competent women may not take their place side by side with men in the business of healing the sick. Medicine is a scientific pursuit. It is based on special knowledge and requires special technical skill. In such work, whether in teaching, research or laboratory work, the woman has proved herself the equal of the man.

After all, taking care of people's health is a matter of economy. It calls for practical common sense, and in this women have shown themselves to be fully as proficient as men.

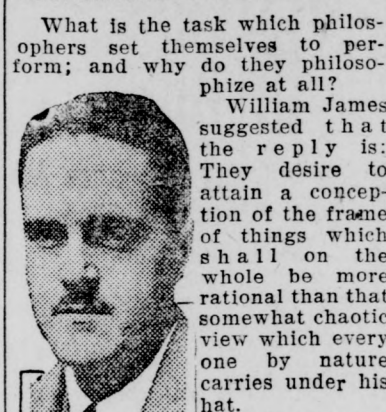

There remains only the question of physical endurance and the ability to resist hardship. In this there is a tradition that is the stronger of the two sexes, and is able to stand more. But it is doubtful if this is the case. A strong, healthy woman will endure as much as a man.

There are many cases of sickness among women where the patient would confide more and make a franker confession to a woman doctor than to a man. And if the woman doctor is fully equipped scientifically, there is no reason why this confidence should be misplaced.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

What is the task which philosophers set themselves to perform; and why do they philosophize at all? William James suggested that the reply is: They desire to attain a conception of the frame of things which shall be a whole more rational than that somewhat chaotic view which every one by nature carries under his hat.

The facts of the world in their sensible diversity are always before us, but our theoretic need is that they should be conceived in a way that reduces their manifoldness to simplicity. Our pleasure at finding that a chaos of facts is the expression of a single underlying fact is like the relief of a musician at resolving a confused mass of sound into melodic or harmonic order. The simplified result is handled with far less mental effort than the original data. The philosopher has done our thinking-work for us.

In view of this, it is interesting to examine some observations of a philosopher on thinking. Emerson wrote:

"The growth of the intellect is spontaneous in every step. The mind that grows does not predict the times, the means, the mode of that spontaneity. God enters by a private door into each individual. Long prior to the age of reflection is thinking of the mind. Out of darkness it came insensibly into the light of today. In the period of infancy it accepted and disposed of all impressions from the surrounding creation after its own way.

"Whatever any mind doeth or saith is after a law. It has no random act or word. And this native law remains over it after it has come to reflection or conscious thought. Over it always reigned a firm law.

"In the most worn, pedantic, introverted self-tormentor's life, the greatest part is incalculable by him, unforeseen, unimaginable, and must be, until he can take himself up by his own ears. What am I? What has my will done to make me what I am? Nothing. I have been floated into this thought, this hour, this connection of events, by night and mind sublimine, and my ingenuity and willfulness have not been thwarted.

Emerson believed our spontaneous action is always best.

"You cannot with your best deliberation and a head come so close to the question as your spontaneous glance shall bring you.

"Always our thinking is a pious reception. Our truth of thought is therefore vitiated as much by too violent direction given by our will as by too good neglect.

"We do not determine what we will think. We only open our senses, clear away as we can all obstruction from the fact, and suffer the intellect to see. We have little control over our thoughts.

"We are the prisoners of ideas."

Who's Who

The appointment of Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, minister to China, as ambassador to Berlin, is in line with the new policy of the state department in promoting representatives abroad for efficient service, and is looked upon as official recognition of the important services Dr. Schurman has given in China under trying conditions.

S. minister to Greece and Montenegro during 1912-13 and during the year 1914 was the Stanford Little lecturer at Princeton. FRENCH RECEIVE MUDDLED VERSION

Coolidge Misquoted At Time Herriot Handed In Resignation

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
WASHINGTON, April 15.—President Coolidge was completely misrepresented by the French press with respect to his alleged comments on the fall of Premier Herriot. Such irritation as is reported from France due to erroneous press reports is the inevitable result of a system which does not maintain a single special correspondent in Washington for French newspapers.

Had the representatives of French newspaper heard what Mr. Coolidge said they would not have been misled. Most of the correspondents of French newspapers, make their headquarters in New York and are dependent on what they read in the press generally so that the version finally cabled is second hand. Here is the information divulged at the White House when inquiries were made last Friday as to whether the president had any comment to make on the change in the cabinet in France:

President's Comment
That the president did not know that he could very well comment on the resignation of Premier Herriot in a way that would be helpful to the correspondents.

That the president recalled that M. Herriot came into power on the suggestion of a little more liberal government and on a desire to arrange some settlement with Germany relative to reparations. Now that was accomplished and it is a real accomplishment and the president thought it a piece of work in which Premier Herriot could take a good deal of satisfaction. The president judged that M. Herriot had gone out of power on account of the great difficulty that has attended French finances, and the president noticed in the afternoon newspaper the statement of the premier that he was not to blame about that and that the difficulty existed before he came into power and was not the result of his action.

That the president did not know what the effect would be on France. He imagined it would depend more or less on who came into power.

That the president found it difficult to comment about it because, of course, it was rather delicate to say much of anything about it.

Passing Remark
The foregoing was, of course, in no sense a eulogy of Premier Herriot nor any attempt to criticize the French for overthrowing his ministry but rather a passing observation on the Dawes settlement which is an accomplished fact and to which messages of gratification were exchanged at the time between Washington and Paris.

Not having the background of the remarks made here on the subject, and not knowing that the newspapermen always ask for comment formal or informal on events happening in Europe, the French editorial writers have assumed that Mr. Coolidge went out of his way to praise M. Herriot and in a sense to lament his departure. Nothing was further from Mr. Coolidge's mind as he knows too well how indelicate it is to comment on a change of cabinet in a foreign country.

Officials here are anxious to learn just how the French press was misled on the subject and it may be that American ambassador Herrick will be asked to present the exact words the White House spokesman used and learn the origin of the misrepresentation.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, April 15.—It has been erroneously reported that a home for delinquent girls had been established by the county authorities on the Cushman-Owens place in Sunland. On the contrary, this is a school personally conducted by Mrs. Gertrude M. F. Garrett, under the supervision of the State and County Board of Charities and Child Welfare, and which she has named La Contessa School.

Mrs. Garrett took possession of the place April 1, and has a three years' lease of the place, which consists of five acres with comfortable and commodious house, and other buildings.

She has at present forty girls at the school-home, ranging in age from seven to nineteen years. These are mentally retarded girls. They are given instructions according to their ages and abilities. All but one of the pupils are children who have lost either mother or father or both.

It was a contented and happy band of children who were gathered upon the porch and lawn of the home Easter morning, when the writer visited the place. In the afternoon, they were to have Sunday school, conducted by workers sent out by Aimee McPherson, who also plans to install a radio set there. Mrs. Garrett is a highly cultured woman of large experience in similar lines, which makes her especially fitted for the work she has undertaken. Mr. Holland, county superintendent of charities, county farm, county hospital, and chief probation officer, in speaking of this work, said:

"Mrs. Garrett is the best woman we know of in the southern part of the state, for handling this part of the proposition." Mrs. Garrett states she will welcome any one desiring to visit the school or who wishes to investigate, but asks that men will please bring their wives or women workers.

"Singing Jimmie" Smith is getting out a new edition of his popular and original "Songs of Sunland." These are five in number, and are sung at public gatherings in Sunland. When sung, they never fail to add life and zest to the meeting.

Rev. W. E. Smith took part in the sunrise service at the foot of the cross on Mt. McGroarty. Mrs. Leonard rendered a vocal solo.

Those wishing to bid on plans for community house for Sunland, are requested to phone or call upon John Abernathy, phone 703; residence, Los Angeles and Page streets. Bids will be opened April 22.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, April 15.—Members of St. Luke's of the Mountains congregation celebrated their first Easter service in the Guild room of the new church. The altar decorating committee had made the little room a bower of floral beauty with vases of lilies, sprays of bridal wreath and green branches massed around the altar, which was simply but effectively decorated with Easter lilies one on each side of the cross flanked with candles in brass candelabra. Rev. Archdeacon Fortin of Winnipeg, Manitoba, gave holy communion also delivering an especially fine Easter sermon. Special music was rendered by Mrs. Tama Alice Bennet who was heard to advantage in "The Holy City." Mrs. C. Reese accompanying. Bennet is the possessor of a truly beautiful voice and has volunteered to take charge of the choir to be formed immediately. About seventy persons attended the service. The largest number of communicants to date participated in the Easter services which was the anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the little church.

ROMANCE RECALLS HARDING REGIME

Countess Gyzka, Leader Of Feminine Bloc, Marries Lasker Protege

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
WASHINGTON, April 15.—The wedding of the Countess Eleanor Gyzka and Elmer Schlesinger in New York is a belated romance of the Harding administration—one of the very few romances of an administration marked by more tragedies than Washington had known in a decade.

The young attorney brought to Washington by Albert Lasker, his most intimate friend and associate, has robbed Washington's social and political circles of one of their most sprightly figures, for "Zeeky" was one of the foremost members of the so-called "social bloc" and he held potent influence behind the curtains of capital politics.

The countess is a member of that sparkling cult which includes Alice Longworth, Evelyn McLean, and Ruth Hanna McCormick, recently made a widow by the death of Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois. It is rather a close coterie and one must be clever indeed to hold one's sway in it.

Mrs. Harding's Role

At one time the "set" was presided over by Florence Harding. She joined it when her husband was senator from Ohio and it was admitted there was no smarter politician, no smarter judge of character, no finer political brain ever in Washington than that of Mrs. Harding. When she came to be the wife of a president, Mrs. Harding still retained, or still headed the social bloc. She was a full generation older than the other members, but age meant nothing to Mrs. Harding. Her will overcame all ordinary obstacles up to the time that death took Warren Harding from her and robbed her of her chief reason to live.

Death twice has invaded the little circle of social queens—the real feminine intelligentsia of Washington society—an intelligentsia before which many a man in high political position has quailed. Even the austere and erudite Henry Cabot Lodge often said he would rather debate with a whole quorum of senators than take on any two of the members of the Longworth-Harding-McCormick-Gyzka "brain trust." Mrs. Harding was the first to go. Then Mrs. McCormick was widowed. And now matrimony has stepped in further to thin the ranks. Meantime motherhood came to Alice Longworth, so that altogether the "intelligentsia" has been much in the public eye this past year or more.

Brilliant Woman

The ex-Countess Gyzka, now plain Mrs. Schlesinger—but plain in name only—is not alone one of the brightest women in Washington but one of the wealthiest. She is the chateleine, as they say in the high social colonies, of a magnificent marble palace on DuPont Circle, the only house in that section to view with the famous Leiter home which has stood for so many years facing New Hampshire avenue.

It was from this palace just a few weeks ago that Senator McCormick, cousin of the bride of Saturday, was taken on his final earthly journey.

Elmer Schlesinger was a solemn figure at the funeral. He not only attended the services here but accompanied the party on the funeral train. Some of the gossip said it was a touching tribute from Schlesinger to an old friend. Others, more worldly, began to "smell a rat." "Zeeky" had been divorced a long time. Her Polish but not too polished count had been almost forgotten. Of course, "Zeeky" had said that she would never wed again and all that sort of thing. She was fed up on men; none of them was any good except to "put in their place" mentally and otherwise. But Washington always gossips about an eligible heiress—with millions and millions of money—and is always looking for a "sign."

Cupid's Miracle

After the funeral it was recalled that "Zeeky" had been seen a number of times with the former chief counsel of the shipping board. Nobody had paid any attention to it at first. Albert Lasker, patron at the capital for Elmer, was a prime favorite at the White House during the Harding regime. No one was closer to the president than he. And of course Schlesinger was conveyed into the inner circle. But frankly Washington never looked upon him as a serious pretender to the hand of the brilliant and audacious Gyzka.

However, Cupid is fond of miracles and loves to throw warring temperaments into contact. It is his way of keeping the world on an even keel. The upshot of the wedding is that New York is either going to lose a rising, a very rapidly rising young lawyer, or Washington is going to lose a sparkling personality. The big marble palace is here; Gyzka's natural associates are here, the excitement of the political game is here; the Middleburg horse shows and the Leesburg hunting sets are just a short way across the Potomac river, and it is difficult to see how Eleanor, even in renewed matrimony, can forsake them all—even for the sake of the rising attorney. The romance is going to keep Washington gossip aflutter for a long time.

There's one good thing about a milkshake. If you pay for the first one, you don't feel obliged to have another on your friend.

George H. Barnes Outlines
Reforestation Plans to Realty Boards

George H. Barnes, president of the American Reforestation association, told Glendale realtors of plans for National Forest week from April 27 to May 3 at their meeting today noon, pointing out the absolute need for reforestation if the United States is to continue as the leading commercial and industrial nation of the globe.

He quoted Lord Northcliff, who after a tour of the United States in 1919, returned to England with the message that if the United States continued its profligate waste of natural resources, it would not only bankrupt this nation but would spell destruction for the whole world. The reforestation committee of the Realty board will co-operate with Mr. Barnes in sponsoring National Forest week activities here. O. M. Newby heads the committee.

Endorse Guthrie.
By unanimous vote the realtors went on record urging Governor Richardson to appoint Charles B. Guthrie of Glendale to the office of California real estate commissioner. In offering the resolution, William A. Horst declared that a list of candidates for the office, suggested by Freeman A. Bloodgood, former state commissioner, is headed by Mr. Guthrie's name. A resolution of appreciation to Edwin T. Keiser, retiring commissioner, was offered by Peter Hanson and voted unanimously.

William L. Truitt, director of the board, offered a change in the by-laws of the board relating to dissolution of partnerships of board members. It will be voted on next week. Three members of the Glendale Union High school faculty, L. W. Kitch, Paul Webb and Earl Brown, were guests of the board today. The lunch was served at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by Miss Lenore Jones and Miss Ann C. Venniman, members of the board. J. M. Boland, vice-president, presided in the absence of President William L. Truitt.

Members of the realty board assembled on the lawn at the Tuesday Afternoon club before the luncheon and had their pictures taken for use in state and national real estate publications.

French Kitchen Brings New Dessert To Front

PARIS, April 15.—Four quarters is a good dessert which is known as "quatre quarts" in the French kitchen.

Mix the yolks of two eggs with the same amount of sugar and swirl for a quarter of an hour. Add a little vanilla, or a small amount of lemon-butter, melted, and flour equal in weight to the sugar. Finish by stirring in the whites of the eggs, well beaten into a "snow." Pour the mixture into a buttered mould and bake a quarter of an hour.

Race Of Hairless Men Seen By Physiologist

MANCHESTER, Eng., April 15.—"Baldness is undoubtedly on the increase, and if unchecked will result in a race of hairless people," predicts H. J. Harper-Roberts, physiologist.

Smoking, which introduces poison into the blood, is one of the causes of baldness, Roberts asserts. He also pointed out that baldness only exists among civilized people and prevails more in cities than in the country towns.

SHIP BOARD ROW

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The internal row in the shipping board flared up anew today when minority members tentatively decided to secure their own lawyers to represent them at next Monday's court battle to decide the legality of the sale of the five passenger liners to the Dollar Steamship company.

City Clerk

A. J. VAN WIE, re-elected city clerk of Glendale yesterday at the municipal election.

A. J. Van Wie, re-elected yesterday to succeed himself as city clerk, has held that office for the past four years, and had gained experience in nearly every department of city government as an appointee under various officials prior to 1921. He was appointed to succeed J. C. Sherer as city clerk four years ago, when Sherer resigned to become city treasurer.

The city clerk obtained a vote of approximately three and one-half to one in the election yesterday. The total poll in his favor was 4565, compared with 1516 for his opponent, Eugene J. Flynn.

Van Wie will be sworn into office on Monday night by retiring Mayor Spencer Robinson. The city clerk then will act as official to swear into office the new City Council and treasurer.

BY-LAWS ADOPTED BY TRAFFIC BODY

Commission Considers Plan
To Employ Secretary
For Full Time

By-laws of the Glendale traffic commission, similar to those under which the Los Angeles traffic commission is governed, were adopted at a meeting today held at 562 S. Precinct No. 16. With the adoption of the by-laws and constitution, plans were made for the retention of a full-time paid secretary to handle detail work of the body. Col. John Eddington, Glendale, considered for the position, was present at today's session.

The school safety committee of the commission met recently with representatives of the Parent-Teachers' association, and another session is planned for next Tuesday when means of providing for the protection for Glendale school children will be considered, the committee reported.

STORK EXPECTED

TOKIO, April 15.—With the continued absence of the Japanese crown princess from the tennis courts and golf links recently, rumors are about that the stork is hovering over the imperial palace. In anticipation of the happy event, the regent's palace, valued at $2,500,000, is being remodelled to accommodate the expected heir or heiress.

HANDSHAKING FEST

WASHINGTON, April 15.—President Coolidge, who upset the plans of his aides and refused to allow the number of his daily handshakes to be limited, got a large dose of the exercise today—1869 to be exact. He didn't miss a hand, however, and received the entire lot in exactly forty-five minutes.

STABBING CONFESSED

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Mrs. Nellie McNeil calmly confessed today, according to police, that she stabbed to death George M. Stanley, also known as Stalsby, said to be a wealthy Oklahoma resident, at the height of a "drinking party" in an apartment house this morning.

JULIAN RESIGNS

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—C. C. Julian, former president of the Julian Petroleum corporation, has resigned from the board of directors of that company. It was learned here today. S. C. Lewis, president of the Lewis Oil corporation, a Delaware company, has superseded Julian as president.

Found: One real estate office in fairly good condition. Owner can have same by calling on Captain Loving at police headquarters and explaining why it has been left to obstruct traffic at Kenneth road and Thompson street.

The building, mounted on low stilts, was discovered blocking the intersection by Ray Fairall of the city street department.

There is no name on the building, nor any means of identification. No one has been found who knows how it got on the road, nor where it came from.

BURGLARS FAIL

Burglars attempted to enter two Glendale business houses last night, but failed in both cases. An attempt was made to force a rear door of the Glendale Dye Works, 1015 South Brand boulevard. A screen door was cut open at the rear of the Lark cafe, 225 South Brand boulevard, but the burglars were unable to open the inner door.

HONOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Florence Heacock, who is to be married April 21 to Rev. Hugh Jones of Arcadia, was honored last night at a surprise kitchen shower at the F. W. Pigg home, 405 North Maryland avenue. New City Officials Are Chosen At Polls

Belcher, James Conner and S. S. Beran.

The total vote cast was 7,446, while the registration in Glendale, according to official figures in the office of the county registrar at Los Angeles is 16,818.

In the race for city treasurer, Miss Ruth Kern, deputy city treasurer, won easily. She led her nearest opponent, C. E. Jones, by 3,560 votes when she polled 4,203 votes and Jones received 743.

A. J. Van Wie, candidate for re-election as city clerk, rolled up the largest majority of any candidate on the ticket, when he polled 4,565 votes, as against 1,516 cast in favor of Eugene J. Flynn, Van Wie's majority being 3,049.

Board of Education

In the election for members of the Board of Education, which was held in the twenty precincts in Glendale, three in Casa Verdugo and one in San Rafael, the names of a score of candidates were written in, in addition to the four present members, candidates for re-election. Foremost among those whose names were written in were Dr. C. S. Steelman. Others included C. W. Bacon, Mrs. W. C. Widdows, and C. S. Dunning. Mrs. W. T. Williamson and Kate Mondon.

Three precincts ran neck and neck for honors in the number of votes cast. The total vote in Precinct No. 8 topped the list with 562. Precinct No. 16 was next with 554 votes, while Precinct No. 17 was close behind with 552 votes. The lightest vote was cast in Precinct No. 1, where only 141 persons went to the polling place.

Unusual interest was shown in yesterday's election, although the vote was not as heavy as in previous years. The greater part of the voting was done in the afternoon, while in some precincts there was a long line of voters waiting when the official closing time—7 o'clock—was reached. All persons standing in line were permitted to vote before the books were closed.

News Provides Results

The usual type of accurate, fast and concise election returns service was again rendered last night for the benefit of Glendaleans. From the time the first partial returns started coming in a short time after the polls closed, until the wee small hours of the morning, there was a large crowd in front of the big three-story building of The Glendale Evening News.

An example of the unusual interest shown was seen in the fact that at 2:30 o'clock this morning there were exactly thirty-two automobiles parked in front of The Evening News building, all belonging to residents of Glendale anxious to know how the election was going. The street in front of The News office was packed until long after midnight, and it was necessary for a traffic officer to be present to keep traffic moving and lanes open for automobiles.

Thousands Use Phones

Those who gathered in front of The Evening News building, as well as those who filled the business office of this paper, were served with bulletins, heard returns from a megaphone, and read posters put in the windows.

Thousands who were unable to come down to the office of The Evening News, or desired to remain at home, availed themselves of the telephone election return service given by The Glendale Evening News. The chief operator at the Glendale office of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., reports the operators on duty at the switchboards last night were literally swamped with calls for Glendale 4000, the private switchboard of The Glendale Evening News. Calls continued to pour into the office of this paper throughout the entire night.

BURGLARS FAIL

Burglars attempted to enter two Glendale business houses last night, but failed in both cases. An attempt was made to force a rear door of the Glendale Dye Works, 1015 South Brand boulevard. A screen door was cut open at the rear of the Lark cafe, 225 South Brand boulevard, but the burglars were unable to open the inner door.

CANDIDATES THANK VOTERS OF GLENDALE

Express Appreciation for Support of People at Election; Assure Public
Of Desire to Serve City

Successful candidates named in the municipal election held yesterday are today expressing their thanks to the citizens of Glendale who cast their ballots for them, and assuring the public that they will endeavor to fulfill their respective offices to the best of their ability. The following letters to residents of this city have been sent by the candidates to The Glendale Evening News for publication:

A. T. Cowan, Editor, Glendale Evening News, Glendale, California.

Dear Sir—I take this medium to thank you and your paper for the hearty support given me during the past campaign.

Your support, I certainly feel, was of great value to me.

With sincere appreciation and hope that our relations will remain as pleasant as they have been in the past, I am Very truly yours,

HARRY G. MACBAIN.

To the general public of the city of Glendale—I wish to acknowledge my appreciation of the trust and confidence that was accorded to me in the recent election of the Council of the city.

It is my earnest desire that this confidence will continue during my term of office and will endeavor to prove this trust by conscientious and fair dealing with all matters pertaining to the city administration.

Editor The Evening News—Will you, through the columns of your paper, permit me to thank the voters of Glendale for their support in the election held on Tuesday?

It shall be my earnest effort to discharge the duties of the office to which I have been elected in a spirit of fair-mindedness to all, so that the greatest good will come to the greatest number.

Editor, The Evening News—Permit me to express, through your columns my sincere thanks to the people of Glendale who voted for me in yesterday's election. I am greatly pleased with the result of the election.

I am glad to serve Glendale for the next two years, and I feel deeply my responsibility as a member of the City Council, as I realize there are important issues before Glendale that must be decided in just the right way to keep Glendale out in front.

I appreciate the opportunity of working with the other four men who were elected yesterday, for I know they will fulfill the duties of their offices in a manner that will be satisfactory to all.

I have been and always will be for Glendale first.

C. E. KIMLIN.

Editor, The Evening News—Please permit me to thank the many good people who supported me at yesterday's election, those who, without my solicitation, gave me public endorsement, also those whom I cannot thank but through the medium of your paper, not their identity, for running display advertisements in my behalf.

I am told that I am elected. If true, I wish to say to the good people of Glendale that I shall endeavor to not betray the confidence reposed in me. I have made no pledges other than those set forth in my platform which I kept before the people during the past week, so, therefore, I am free to serve the people, subject to their dictation only.

"Finally, I solemnly promise to give the people the best there is in me, to assist in giving the city a clean and efficient business administration."

S. C. KINCH.

Editor, The Evening News—I wish to hereby express my appreciation to one and all for the splendid vote I received at yesterday's election. It was indeed a surprise to me for while I have lived in Glendale for nearly ten years, I am not what is known as a mixer, and have never cultivated acquaintanceship with the idea of being popular.

I interpret my election as a mark of confidence and shall accept it as a sacred trust, and will serve to the best of my ability. Having no pre-election promises to fulfill, I am free to act as my best judgment dictates. Will endeavor to be fair and impartial in all matters and will try to not make the same mistake twice.

I want to particularly thank The Glendale News for his fair and impartial manner in which it conducted the paper during the campaign.

WILBUR F. TOWER.

Ruth W. Kern, elected city treasurer at the polls yesterday, today expressed her thanks to the people of Glendale for their support and votes.

"I will do all in my power to merit the honor that has been shown me," she said. "This office will be conducted on a strictly business basis, in the most efficient manner possible."

Treasurer

MISS RUTH KERN, chosen city treasurer to succeed J. C. Sherer at the election yesterday.

Ruth W. Kern, only woman officeholder in Glendale, elected city treasurer at the municipal election here yesterday, has been thoroughly trained in her duties by a term of four years served as deputy city treasurer. Miss Kern received the largest plurality of votes accorded any candidate, with a vote of almost six to one.

The new city treasurer, who will be sworn into office Monday night by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, was appointed deputy by J. W. Stouffacher in May, 1921. When he resigned a few months later, J. C. Sherer, who succeeded Stouffacher, retained Miss Kern as deputy. When he planned to retire from the office recently, he gave his unqualified endorsement to his deputy.

Before becoming deputy city treasurer Miss Kern had extensive experience in business affairs.

AUTO TAX BILL

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—A proposed constitutional amendment by Assemblyman Charles H. Duval of Ventura, increasing the motor carriers' gross receipts tax from 1 to 1-2 per cent and exempting them from all other forms of taxation was sent to the Assembly today without recommendation by the Assembly constitutional amendments committee.

Jones expressed his good wishes in the following letter sent to The Glendale Evening News:

"Miss Ruth Kern, City Treasurer of Glendale—I wish to extend my congratulations and best wishes for your continued success as treasurer of Glendale."

"C. E. JONES."

SALESMEN 'MADE' NOT BORN, CLAIM

Merchants Today Proving
This By Schools To Make 'Em Fit

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 15.—There used to be a theory, that salesmen are born not made. But modern merchants, manufacturers and business men have ceased waiting for them to be born. They are making salesmen by courses of intensive instruction which involve not only sales but production of every other detail of their businesses. In some instances this instruction is compulsory. In others the employees of the concern are merely given opportunity to take advantage of it if they choose to do so. The move has been accelerated by experience of merchants in the Easter trade.

The furniture trade holds a test course at Grand Rapids, Mich., twice a year for the training of owners, buyers, salesmen and advertising men. Lectures are delivered on every angle of the business from the forest to the retail floor, with auxiliary information in advertising and business organization. The proximity of the great furniture factories makes every process available for demonstration. Over two hundred men from all sections completed the course already this spring.

Auto Business
In the retail automobile trade, particular stress is placed on sales methods, sales talks, and means of approach. Nearly every big agency holds a brief half hour class for salesmen every morning, with sales managers and factory representatives conducting the instruction.

One great packing company runs a continuous school for its employees which has an enrollment of nearly 5000. About 2000 of this number are taught at the yards in Chicago while the re-

School Class Boasts History-Making Names

BALTIMORE, Md., April 15.—There are twelve boys in one class of the Calvert school here each of whom includes among his ancestors a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The record is believed unique among American school children. Their names follow:

Barbers' 'Neck-Duster' Offends Health Board

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 15.—Test hair cuts have been scorned by members of the Cambridge health board.

The board plans the abolition of the famed "neck duster," the brush used to remove hair from the customer's neck after a hair trim.

Barbers said the "duster" was indispensable. Wiping the neck with a wet towel will not remove the hair, they said. To prove their point, they offered members of the health board a free hair cut. In declining the offer the board announced they would take the "neck duster" proposal under advisement.

Mainder receive correspondence courses. Every branch manager and as many traveling salesmen as possible are compelled to take this course, no matter how experienced they may be. They are put right on the floor and are not "graduated" until they not only know how to cut up a carcass but have done it repeatedly. They are then taken in hand by the head of every department of the great plant for final individual instruction in each executive's specialty.

MIGHTY RAILROAD CHANGES 'HEADS'

Southern Pacific Now Led
By Executives 'Born'
With Business

By B. G. KLINE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The changes announced by the Southern Pacific Railway by which Julius Kruttschnitt retires from the chairmanship of the executive offices of the company are removed back to San Francisco, places in control of this big railroad system two men who have grown up with the west and have worked their way gradually from the bottom of the ladder to the top.

William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, who on May 31 comes into complete control of 11,000 miles of railroad and 3800 miles of water lines, began his railroad career in 1882 as a freight clerk. He is now within a few years of the age of retirement. Mr. Sproule typifies the thorough executive going to the rockbottom of a question when he goes into it at all. He is considered a bit "hard" by some of those under him but never inefficient.

Born in Ireland
Born in Ireland he received a university education there. To those who place importance in personal habits in relations to success, it might be said that Mr. Sproule is considered the best dressed man in an organization employing 55,000 men. He doesn't smoke, drink nor play golf. He keeps in good physical condition by walking from his home on San Francisco hill to the office. His arrival daily is as punctual as his departure for lunch. A hobby of his is to poke around curio and art stores with his wife.

Paul Shoup, who succeeds Mr. Sproule in charge of the western lines, is a "native son." Shoup, pronounced like "shout," is versatile and cheery. He is perhaps more widely known on the west coast than any other man and he has more irons in the fire than a dozen blacksmiths in the old horse shoeing days. He first tried his hand in the mechanical department of railroad engineering at the age of seventeen, but found that it wasn't his forte. He went through a gamut of positions including those of telegraph operator and ticket agent before he or some one over him, discovered his genius for finance and promotion.

He can analyze a sheet of figures at a glance and he has the faculty of getting different interests to co-operate on a project. His ready sense of humor and likeable personality serve him well. His imagination some years ago exhibited itself in short story-writing for magazines in which he was successful. He is director in nearly sixty companies or corporations and president of a score of them. Whenever a civic organization needs support Mr. Shoup is called on. He is a trustee in Leland Stanford from which his son graduated.

Mr. Shoup's first stepping stone was the lowly prune. His associates like to tell the story.

Mr. Shoup was sent down to the San Jose district for traffic duty in the days when corporations were unpopular and the Southern Pacific was receiving a liberal share of the popular "cussing."

Seeing prunes were the main crop he made a study of their habits and idiosyncrasies and soon was able to tell growers themselves about the dried plum. In fact, he wrote "a prune primer," which still is a primary textbook of the industry. Through this means Mr. Shoup was able to smooth out the difficulties between shippers and the Southern Pacific from which time his rise with the railroad was rapid. He likes to order prunes in the dining car and tell his companions all about them and the industry.

Mr. Shoup lives in Los Altos and gets his recreation playing ball with his two boys when he finds time to be at home. His office hours mean little to him. He is busy all the time. He is another railroad executive who doesn't golf nor smoke. His secret of success is taking ever new responsibilities and knowing to whom to allocate the detail work.

Harvard Man, 33, Returns
To Big Bank Position
From Golf Links

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 15.—In these modern industrial days, when so many corporations are headed by men who began far down in the ranks, it is rather refreshing to hear of one young fellow who has come far to the front by graduating from one of the big universities, by knowing how to wear good clothes, by being handsome and by playing a rattling game of golf. It is a big boost for the college man, for the man who heads the details of dress, for the man who has studied savoir faire and for the noble and ancient game of golf. Temporarily, the newboys, the messengers and the common laborers must take a back seat.

In any event, young Henry S. Sturgis has returned from a golfing tour down Asheville way and has resumed his high position as assistant to the president of the First National bank, one of the big institutions of financial New York.

Hailed from West
Mr. Sturgis has been golfing with George F. Baker, head of the bank, and one of the philanthropists of his day. Mr. Baker is reported as having recently given away at least $15,000,000 of his vast estate and most of his benefactions have gone to colleges. He is a believer in the college man, or at least he believes in that percentage of college men who feel there is still hard work ahead of them after graduation and who do not think the whole world should fall at the feet of the man with a diploma.

Young Sturgis, who has become the protégé of the powerful Baker interests, is also a young Lochinvar. He came out of the wide open spaces "where men are men and women are governors." He was born in Cheyenne, Wyo. He is 33 years old. He graduated from Harvard and decided to go into the "street."

Aged Painter Hurt In Fall From House Roof

M. V. Conklin, 65, of 633 West California street, sustained probable fatal injuries yesterday, when he slipped and fell from a roof he was painting at 450 West Harvard. The aged man dropped on the cement driveway below, sustaining a basal fracture of the skull and internal injuries. The Kiefer & Eyerick ambulance rushed him to the Glendale hospital.

Famous Woman Golfer To Retire From Links

LONDON, April 15.—American woman golfers who come to England this year to compete in the women's golf championship tournament may not have the opportunity of playing against Miss Joyce Wethered, British champion and one of the best women golfers who ever sank a putt. Miss Wethered is seriously considering her retirement from competitive golf, it is said, for the reason that other things in life are more important to her.

COOLIDGE CALLED WINDOW SHOPPER

Washington Sees President
Often Gazing Into Capital Shops

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Despite the fact that the White House solemnly let it be known that neither the president nor Mrs. Coolidge purchased any Easter clothes, as such, but the president has done more "window shopping" this spring than almost any person in Washington. This window gazing will bear fruit in later spring purchases.

President Coolidge's interest in both men's and women's attire revealed publicly for the first time in his speech to the national cotton manufacturers, may have surprised the country in general, but to New Englanders it was no news. His old associates in Northampton and in Boston have known for some time that he was not only interested in such matters, but also that he is considered by Mrs. Coolidge as an expert in that line.

Former Custom
In the days before he came to Washington, Mr. Coolidge always accompanied his wife on her shopping trips in Boston. The Coolidge family maintained their home in Northampton during the time Mr. Coolidge was governor of Massachusetts and Mrs. Coolidge went into Boston only occasionally, when her presence was deemed necessary at official functions.

Many times when Mr. Coolidge was out for a walk in the shopping district of the Hub and his eyes would catch a hat or a dress or a pair of shoes that appealed to him, he noted the price, the style and the goods and lost no time in communicating his discovery to his wife. When next she visited the state house the governor would join her on the bargain hunting expeditions. Mrs. Coolidge always maintained that her husband had good judgment and excellent taste when it came to women's clothing and seldom bought a dress, a coat or a hat without the "advice and consent" of her husband.

Battling Your Way Into Town

Permanent roads are a good investment
—not an expense

It was a glorious trip. The setting sun proclaims the day about done.

And now the battle starts. It will be dark long before you reach home.

What a jam! You barely crawl along. You stop. You start. You creep ahead a few yards. Again you jam on the brakes.

Cars! Cars! Cars! Endlessly in front of you, endlessly behind you.

The driver just ahead stops suddenly. You barely miss bumping into his car.

On-coming cars honk an angry warning if you attempt to turn out. The road is too narrow.

Intersecting highways also are jammed with traffic. At every intersection again you wait, doggedly clutching the wheel in silent wrath.

At last, after literally fighting your way over the road, you swing into your own driveway.

Yes, it was a glorious trip, but—

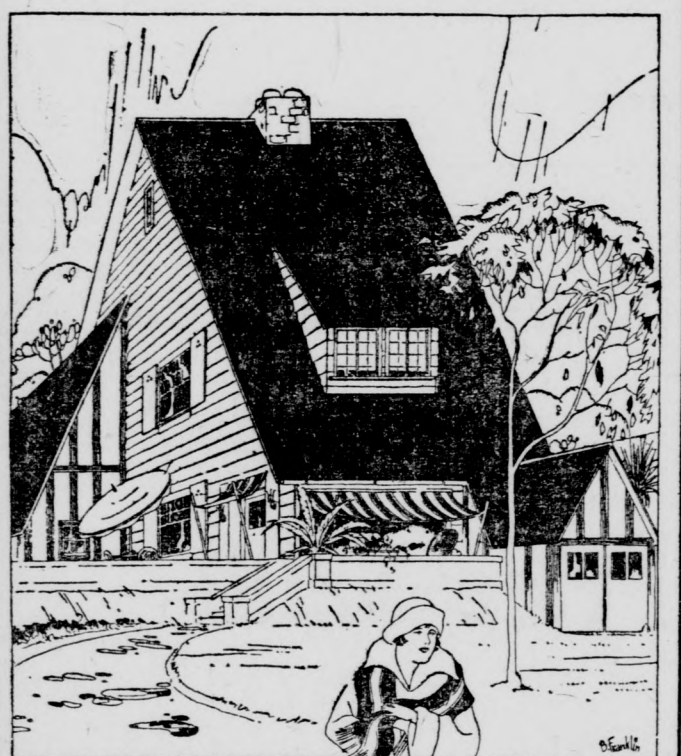

Don't blame your highway authorities. They are ready to do their part, but they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

You know an early start means early relief.

CHURCH AT ATWATER TO BE INDEPENDENT

Changes From Mission In Year; Sunday School Attendance Showing Big Growth In Recent Months

On May 1 the Atwater Baptist church, established just a little over a year ago, will become self-supporting and will discontinue its affiliation with the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission society, becoming an independent Baptist church, it is declared.

The change from a mission to a regularly sustained church of the Baptist denomination will mark an epoch in the life of the Atwater parish. The church was first established in February, 1924, by Rev. E. A. Matne, representative of the Los Angeles Mission society. He remained in charge until June of last year when Rev. M. Grant Nelson took over the pastorate.

The church has grown to a membership of ninety-three in the brief year of its existence, although it is still in the formative stages. The actual work accomplished to date is best shown however in the Sunday school enrollment of 450. Much of the work of the church so far has been of a Sunday school nature.

A number of active organizations have been formed within the church. The Women's Missionary union with Mrs. J. E. Noble as president has a large membership and is prominent in parish activities. The Baptist Young People's union is comprised of virtually all young folks of the church. Victor Johnson is president of the union.

The remarkable record established by the Baptist Sunday school has been made under the leadership of A. W. Steffans, superintendent. F. R. Anderson is in charge of the church choir. A special observance will mark the change from a mission to a full fledged church, Rev. Nelson announced today.

A. S. Johnson with his son and daughter has established his residence in the Atwater district at 3056 Tyburn street.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

The mad scramble of legislation—the biennial roundup at Sacramento—has reached its peak in the Assembly and Senate of California. It is difficult to picture in words the way in which roll calls are reeled off with the precision of a machine. Votes are being taken on many important questions on which the members of the two houses are not prepared to vote—but vote they must.

Successful legislation is a matter of personality. All the resorting, to make a word that fits the case, and all of the endorsements given this, that and the other thing count for little compared with the personal assurances of some leader in whom faith is placed by his fellow members.

But if that faith is betrayed, the governor and his veto stand between the people and bad legislation. And thankfully the present governor is using every valid reason to curb new laws. On the other hand, he quickly signs those bills for which there is an actual necessity. This has been proved to the writer in more than one instance.

The Senate has passed a bill making Los Angeles, or any other city for that matter, subject to a reparations court in instances where damages may have been inflicted on other communities by acquisition of water rights.

Senator J. M. Inman, native of the Owens valley and now a Sacramento lawyer, is author of the legislation which is hoped to alleviate the conditions arising in Inyo county as the result of Los Angeles draining the water from the Owens and tributary streams.

Now that the smoke of political battle has cleared in Glendale and the country is saved, perhaps, the writer would comment from a distant point that the fight was much cleaner than expected.

It was pleasing to see the columns of The Glendale Evening News not casting aspersions on those seeking public office. For, if we only thought a moment, there is something bad in the best of us, and something good in all of us.

To be personally acquainted with people in public life is the pleasure of a newspaperman. And for the most part officials are not only honest to a fault, but they give more of themselves to their office than they would to a business of their own.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 15.—The Lacrosse contest to be played at the Burbank baseball park next Saturday to decide the championship of Southern California will bring to this city a number of prominent Canadians, some of whom will officiate during the game. Among these will be John Cooper, Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Tourists association who will act as judge; Dr. J. A. McNaughton, Toronto, president of the California Amateur Lacrosse association; P. J. Lally, Canada, who will officiate as umpire and Capt. Eddie Hume, Vancouver, B. C., who will also act as umpire.

William Hammer, West Burbank grocerman, has been selected to take charge of the Kansas headquarters during the big Shrine convention to be held in Los Angeles in June. Hammer is a former Kansan.

Rev. Leon H. Austin has left for Catalina Island where he will spend the week with other Congregational ministers from Southern California in annual conference.

Dr. William Axling, head of a large church in Japan, will deliver an address on "How Japan Views America" at the Edison school auditorium on Friday evening, Dean Hamilton of the First Baptist church announced today. Dr. Axling is a distinguished personage in Japan, having won the respect and confidence of the Japanese government and the people of Japan in general.

There are a number of signers of the annexation petition on file here who have requested that their names be removed, according to City Clerk Webster. They claim to have signed it under the belief that it was a document that would aid in obtaining for Burbank the University of California, southern branch.

A normal man, as we understand it, is one who thinks a trial is holding out on him in pure perversity when she says the line is busy.

Advocate Street Opening

Further agitation for opening of Glendale avenue through the Atwater district to connect with the proposed Fletcher drive bridge over the Los Angeles river took place at a meeting of the Glendale Advancement association at noon yesterday. It was brought out by advocates of the extension that property owners in the Atwater district along the proposed line of the new boulevard are very favorable to the plan.

Members of both the Los Angeles and Glendale City Planning commissions are said to favor the extension also. J. F. McClish, chairman of the special Advancement club committee, said that definite action is now awaiting definite steps by the Los Angeles planning board in okaying the project. He said that there was little possibility of definite action by the planning body until the Fletcher drive bridge is assured and for this reason urged that every effort be made to secure the success of the bridge bond issue.

Will Attend Meeting

Representatives of the Atwater Improvement association will attend the meeting of cities and Chambers of Commerce in Glendale Thursday noon when a unified effort to secure county funds for building the proposed Glendale avenue and Fletcher drive bridges will be considered. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and will combine efforts of cities of the San Fernando and San Gabriel valleys in pushing the bridge projects. Schemes for assisting in the Los Angeles city bond campaign for the bridges, provided the bonds are placed on the June ballot, will also be suggested to representatives of cities not inside the incorporation limits of Los Angeles. T. Rowley, chairman of the highway and bridges committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will preside at the meeting.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton & Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

Asked for the address of her friend, she said that he had left town. In desperation, Graham determined, at last, to make the round of the pawnbrokers' shops himself, regardless of what Flint might have done.

It was cold for a day in April when he started out, and he was able, without much discomfort, to bundle himself up again in the atrocious cap and ulster in which he had followed Brown so successfully. He did not wish to be recognized going in and out of pawnbrokers' shops.

The afternoon darkened; a cold wind came up from the sea. So far his search had been without result. He promised himself to call it off for the day after he had visited just one more place—a dark little shop in a dark, quiet street. The shop was stuffy, and Graham left the door ajar to let in the outer air. A cart rattled by, while the pawnbroker slowly displayed his wares; from a distance came voices in altercation; he heard a group of children pass, shouting. Then the street grew still again. After a little Graham was aware of a step breaking the silence. It came; it passed. It was irregular, halting, the step of a limping man. With it went the tap, tap of a cane. The sound took Graham back to the night in March; to the dim, unfamiliar street; to the lame man hurrying down it. Without a word to the pawnbroker, Graham made a dash for the door. The sound of the step was already dying away, but the man was still in sight. He had stopped before the door of a respectable-looking English-basement house, a little way down the block. The door opened instantly, and he disappeared within. But before the door could close again, or Graham, hurrying, reach it, a small white dog squeezed his way out and dashed across the street, intoxicated with freedom. The man who had opened the door, a surly faced fellow with close-cropped hair, gave chase, leaving the door ajar.

Graham saw his opportunity. No sooner had the man turned an unsuspecting back, than, without a moment's reflection he pushed the door open and slipped in. Glancing down the street as he did so, he thought he saw one of Flint's men whom he knew, standing on the corner. But when he looked again nobody was there.

The same rank odor which had permeated the empty house he now as he entered. He hesitated a moment. In his inmost heart he knew that he was "butting in" again where Flint had warned him to keep out. But he went on. To lose a chance of recovering Philippa's bracelet lost on account of a small would be ridiculous, he told himself. Besides, the man ahead might not be Fitzpatrick after all, and surely it behooved him to make sure. And anyhow where was the harm? He would show Flint!

He heard his man limping along the hall above. Throwing caution to the winds, he followed. Something, a last remnant of prudence warned him to make no sound. If he had been truthful with himself, he would have confessed that it was as much, if not more, the adventure as the bracelet which he sought.

A sound of voices, un-English, alien voices, reached him as he passed through the upper hall. He knew what voices they were. There was no use trying to cheat himself about that. It was too late to turn back, however, even had he wished to do so, for from below came the sound of a closing door. The janitor had returned. Graham knew that the closed door would never open peacefully to him. He could not insinuate himself into a nest of anarchists and expect them to bow him out politely whenever he wished to depart. Also he knew that he was no match for the muscular, bull-headed warden of the door. The thrill of excitement was no less, but the adventure was beginning to lose something of its glamour. There was nothing to do, however, but to go on. If anything happened, he might count on Fitzpatrick to stand by him, he thought. A man whom Evadne loved must be a white man on some side. Of course, if the man wasn't Fitzpatrick—But, in that case, he would have no reason to think the house he had entered was anything more than a respectable foreign lodging house.

A tread creaked overhead. The man he was following was climbing the second flight. He was already out of sight round the turn of the upper landing by the time Graham, stealing along on tiptoe, had reached the first step of the upper stairs. Caution, Graham now felt, must be abandoned for speed. His foot was on the step; he was springing upward, when the small, white dog, bent on acquiring merit after his late escape, precipitated himself clamorously upon the scene. Graham dashed up the stairs, the dog yapping at his heels. A door at the end of the hall opened. Glancing back, as he sped upward, Graham saw a man framed in the opening. It was Brown. There was no mistaking him. Oh, for Flint! Another door opened. He heard excited voices. He was at the turn—she was at the top. He caught sight of the man he wanted disappearing into a room at the further end of the hall. There he dashed across the street, intoxicated with freedom. The man who had opened the door, a surly faced fellow with close-cropped hair, gave chase, leaving the door ajar.

Graham saw his opportunity. No sooner had the man turned an unsuspecting back, than, without a moment's reflection he pushed the door open and slipped in. UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PERIWINKLE

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping down along the duck pond where Lint, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the quack quack children swam, the bunny rabbit gentleman heard a little voice calling:

"Help me! Oh, please help me!"

"I shall be glad to help," said Mr. Longears, looking around to see what he could do, for he was always ready to help. "But who are you," he asked.

"I am a periwinkle," was the answer.

"What in the world is a periwinkle?" the bunny inquired.

"I'm a sort of a little snail and I live in a shell," was the answer. "I stick my head out of my shell, which is my house, to get things to eat, and also to see what the weather is going to be."

"But now I can't stick my head out of my shell, because, while I was asleep at the edge of the pond, some one threw a big flat stone on top of me and I can't lift it off!" Oh, dear!" cried the periwinkle.

"You must be under this stone."

Diet And Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

MORE ON WARTS

"Dear Doctor: We have been reading your article on warts and hasten to write you. We know a very harmless and effective remedy for the removal of warts, having used it in our family for years without a failure, and have recommended it to our friends. "Purchase a dime's worth of colloidion, and with a match, smear the colloidion all over the wart and quite a distance around it. Do this several times a day, especially after the part treated has been washed. After several applications the wart will grow smaller, and later disappear. The principle of the thing is the wart is smothered."—Mrs. H."

You might think of it in that manner, Mrs. H., for perhaps the contraction of the colloidion gradually shuts off some of the blood supply. There is a possibility of micro-organisms of some sort causing warts, because we know that one wart can cause another. For instance, a wart on the inner side of a finger may cause a wart to appear on the other finger pressing against it. I have known of warts to disappear under the treatment you use, also. The reason I did not mention it in the column is that in one or two cases I saw, it caused considerable suppurative inflammation. The wart disappeared, but it was a painful process.

However, I think that if the warts are scrubbed very thoroughly with soap and hot water and a light coating of iodine put on once a day, before the colloidion is applied, this suppurative would not occur.

Iodin, bicarbonate of soda, and potato juice are other remedies for ordinary warts.

Thank you for your interest, Mrs. H.

A GREAT REJUVENATION TREATMENT

"Dear Doctor Lulu: Just five months ago today, I sent for your wonderful booklet on reducing. Enclosed are two snapshots which speak for themselves and tell more than I can ever express in words. "When I started on the diet I weighed 211½. (I am five feet, four inches tall). Today I weigh 158 and look at least ten years younger and feel more than that. I want to reduce 15 or 20 pounds more. Then just watch my weight!"

"I can never tell you how grateful I am to you. I feel wonderful; have never had better health than I have the last three months. All I can say is 'God bless you and the work you are doing and may you have an extra star in your crown.'—Mrs. S."

I wish more of you would send me snapshots of yourselves before and after. I wouldn't have known your pictures were of the same person, Mrs. S. Some improvement in the second picture!

You reduced 53½ pounds in five months. That's at the rate of about 10½ pounds per month. That's a trifle speedy, I think, although it was apparently all right for you, since you feel and look so well.

Thank you for letting me know, Mrs. S. I am running your letter because it will help bring more into the fold, and better looks and better health will result.

Mrs. J.—We have an article on speech defects you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Ask also for the list of books on Self Hygiene.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we are pleased to remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as interest. Don't forget the safe. If you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

LONG LASHES

If a woman has sufficiently beautiful eyes, the rest of her face doesn't matter, there will always be someone to think her entirely lovely. And long eyelashes go far toward making quite ordinary eyes seem beautiful. Therefore, cultivate them carefully!

In spite of much prose and poetry on the subject of long, thick lashes, beauty shops have given little thought to making up a woman's eyes. The skin and the hair, massage, waving, electric treatments, cosmetics, and there the beauty doctor's usefulness ends. Eyebrows can be shaved if too thick, but the shaved hairs grow in at once, thin brows can be treated with tonic, but are apt to grow in shaggy if at all, and lashes are tinted with a colored crayon and that is about all. So far no permanent dye has been found to color them, dyes as we know them would grow out and new applications would have to be put on every week or so.

Therefore the most satisfactory thing to do is to rub the lashes with a little oil if they are dark, for this makes them darker and so glossy they seem thicker and longer. Besides it improves their health so they'll really grow longer. If they are light, take petroleum jelly or cold cream, and mix soft with it—fine soot from a smoky lamp chimney, or soot made by holding a candle under a glass. A little of this is soon collected and can be scraped into the tiny pot of cream until the cream is quite black.

I have tried this and found the results excellent. A little dark tint is given the lashes, the darkness spreads to the ends of the hairs, so they seem long, at least so they show their full length. At night time the dark cream is easily removed with oil or cleansing cream. The merest smudge on the finger tips is rubbed gently into the hairs, otherwise they will look beaded, and even run over the skin when the face grows warm. You need only shadow them with black.

Esther F. G.:—If you use a small piece of chamois on your skin when it has this tendency to shine, it will usually remove it.

E. Carlson of 1208 South Boynton street, has moved to 914 East Garfield avenue.

RABIES EPIDEMIC SWEEPS GLENDAL

Eight Dogs Already Killed In Campaign To Abate Dreaded Disease

Following one of the most serious outbreaks of rabies in the history of the city, every dog roaming at large will be killed by the city health department beginning this afternoon, it was announced today by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city physician. Dogs bearing vaccination tags, however, will be spared. Dr. Kaemmerling was assured of the support of Chief of Police John D. Fraser, City Manager V. B. Stone and other city officials. More than a dozen patients bitten within the past few days by dogs afflicted with rabies are being treated at the city health office with vaccine. Eleven persons, one of them a babe of ten months, were bitten yesterday by the same dog. In the event of failure of today's action by Dr. Kaemmerling to abate the condition the entire city will be placed under quarantine. The order was issued by Dr. Kaemmerling under an emergency ordinance adopted by the city several months ago. The county has already placed all the Montrose and Sycamore canyon area under quarantine. Eight dogs with rabies have been killed in Glendale.

The dog that yesterday bit eleven persons was owned by R. C. Phillips, 1819 Alpha road, himself a victim of the animal. Others were Milton Movis, Fred Haight, Roy Movis, all of 1907 Alpha road; Gene Mathis, Ruth Coffey, Zoe Coffey, aged 3; Helen Coffey, aged ten months; Hazel Mathis, of 1319 Alpha road; Robert Vahey, 2109 Alpha road, and Donald Gardner, 2135 Alpha road. One boy was badly bitten about the face. Others were bitten on legs and arms.

PLUMBERS NEEDED

BOSTON, April 15.—The number of journeymen plumbers in the United States has dropped 25,000 in the last fifteen years, according to W. T. Wordell, trade expert. He declares the shortage requires that there should be at least one apprentice in training constantly in every plumbing shop.

There will always be need of courage so long as the waiter brings back at least $3 of your money in small change.

My Hair Was Quite Gray

My hair was quite gray and I was looking old. I had tried many things but nothing helped. Then I saw an advertisement for Kolor-Bak and I decided to try it. I used it for a few days and my hair began to turn its natural color again. I look ten years younger.

(A typical letter)

Don't Worry about Gray Hair

This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Restore the Original Shade

Thousands of people have quickly banished grayness and have restored the original shade to their hair with the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak.

Physicians and scientists know that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells in the scalp because these cells have become inactive. No matter what the cause, it is amazing to see how the grayness disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is the best known substitute for the natural pigmentation. It also banishes dandruff and stops itching of the scalp and falling hair. If you are gray, Kolor-Bak is all you need to make your hair look "young" again. No need to furnish a sample of your hair—no tests to make—as this one clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Money back instantly if Kolor-Bak is not satisfactory.

Eight Cities Draw 232,000
As Two Major Leagues
Make 1925 Debut

NEW YORK, April 15.—Nearly a quarter of a million fans turned out yesterday as the official welcoming committee for the 1925 debut of baseball. The estimated attendance in the eight American and National league parks was 232,000. Hundreds of thousands more watched score boards throughout the land. The Yankee stadium in New York drew the largest crowd, 45,000. A cool, cloudy day and the absence of Babe Ruth kept down the attendance there, the business manager admitted.

The Chicago Cubs and Pirates drew 35,000 in the Windy City, there being no wind to soften the rays of a warm summer sun. In Cincinnati 35,000 turned out to see the Reds and Cardinals, and Detroit and the White Sox drew 35,000 at Tigertown. The attendance was estimated as follows:

American League
At New York—Yankees-Senators, 45,000.
At Detroit—Tigers-White Sox, 34,000.
At Philadelphia—Athletics-Red Sox, 25,000.
At St. Louis—Browns-Indians, 18,000.
Total, 122,000.

National League
At Cincinnati—Reds-Cardinals, 35,000.
At Chicago—Cubs-Pirates, 35,000.
At Brooklyn—Dodgers-Phillies, 20,000.
At Boston—Braves-Giants, 20,000.
Total, 110,000.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Spring football practice at Princeton will be marked by an event which is likely to prove very influential throughout the realm of intercollegiate athletics. At least it will establish a certain friendly relationship between two great universities in different sections of the country that cannot fail to be constructive.

During the week of April 13-18, Fielding Yost will be at Princeton with William Roper and his football squad. The object of the visit will be to exchange coaching ideas, to discuss football fundamentals, strategy, attack, defense and the like.

The Michigan athletic director does not seem to feel that he will be asked to do any direct coaching of the football players other than perhaps give two or three lectures in the evening to the squad of candidates.

It is understood that later Roper will return Yost's visit. At all events, in the course of the visit to Nassau a rather interesting foregathering will take place under Yost's auspices.

Three former Michigan captains now in New York, is James Baird, '95, Walter Bennett, '98, and Hugh White, '01, together with several other "M" men will come to Princeton on April 15 for dinner with important Princeton alumni and coaches.

There will be no formal significance attached to this function but when such things occur no one may say just what the eventual outcome will be.

At the present time there seems to be a great deal of doubt as to just who of our professional golfers will go for the British open.

Report persists that Walter Hagen will not defend his title in England this year. Leo Diegel, of Macdonald Smith are certain to go but otherwise there is uncertainty, unless tentative declarations of Long Jim Barnes, Farrell and Turnesa be accepted as meaning they intend definitely to go.

Everyone who watched the play of the pro in California and Florida say that of all them Macdonald Smith has been rounding into extraordinary form and that at Pinehurst he was truly great. If he continues to progress he will go a long way in the British open.

FOUR LEAGUE MARKS SHATTERED IN MEET

Discus Throw, Pole Vault, Quarter and Half-Mile Records Surpassed at Broadway Field Yesterday

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

New Central League Records

440-yard dash—Maydwell, Glendale, and Gloege, Covina, tied, 51.8 seconds.
880-yard dash—Gloege, Covina, 2:02.5 seconds.
Pole vault—De Groot, Monrovia, 11 feet 7 3/4 inches.
Discus throw—De Parco, Glendale, 112 feet 3 inches.

A smashing success, every bit it was scheduled to be, was the 1925 annual Central league track meet, held on Broadway field yesterday, before a crowd of over 1000 persons. Literally a smashing success, because the thrill-cramped afternoon was sprinkled with the smashing of no less than four Central league track records of fairly long standing.

In the 440-yard dash, which was said by many who know to be the most thrilling race ever staged in a league meet, "Seedy" Maydwell and Gloege ran a dead heat, at the same time scissoring one and eight-tenths seconds off the standing record. Maydwell got the jump on Gloege at the gun but with a strong pull at the finish the Covina champion was able to barely draw up and breast the tape instantaneously with Maydwell.

The two stars met again in the 880-yard run, but this time Gloege demonstrated his superiority by leading Maydwell nearly eight yards at the tape. Nevertheless Gloege was so hard pressed that he slipped one and three-tenths seconds off the loop mark.

A lanky gentleman who hailed from Monrovia and who boosted himself over the pole vault standards at great heights with apparent ease, managed to crack another record by winning that event with a boost of 11 feet, seven and one-fourth inches, three and one-half inches over the league record. To make this record jump Bud Elliott of Glendale pressed the Monrovia bean-pole hard and nearly made the record leap himself, missing only by mere fractions of inches.

The fourth disabled mark was put out of commission by Ellsworth De Parco, who hurled the discus 112 feet, 3 inches, just one foot farther than Wine did one year ago for the record.

Although Glendale expected most of the competition to come from Covina a dark horse in the form of the Monrovia Wildcat leapt in and gave the Red and Black cinderpath artists a real scare for a while.

After Glendale had topped off matters with a win in the relay Freeman from Dyas made the grand presentation of the Dyas perpetual trophy to Bud Elliott, Glendale's track captain, whereupon Bud disappeared to avoid the pain of making a speech in his abbreviated outfit.

Covina ran Glendale fairly close in the relay, leading at the quarter mark, and running in a dead heat at the half, on the curve of the third quarter Slocum of Glendale passed his Covina opponent and carried a large lead to Purdy who coasted in with little competition.

Glendale hogged the shot put and the discus, taking the first three honors in the former and the first two in the latter. Monty Montgomery won the mile run with ease, remaining in the back ground during the first two laps and pacing into the front during the start of the third. Jack Sturges by dogged determination hung on and with a flying finish passed up two men and took third place for Glendale. Gliden, whom Sturges passed scarcely a yard from the tape, tottered at the finish and barely staggered across in the line to cop fourth place and one point.

Results of Meet
In the 440-yard dash both Gloege and Maydwell flopped flat at the finish, both being well nigh exhausted.

The six schools in the Central league, all of which were represented yesterday, are: Glendale, Alhambra, Monrovia, Citrus, Covina and South Pasadena.

FRY'S PHYSICAL FACTS

Health Expert and Champion Bag Funcher of America.

Written For The Evening News
III—Why Chew Food?

All food combinations should be chewed slowly, tasting every mouthful until the taste has disappeared. Taste in foods is an element that must be assimilated and taken up by the blood, through the taste buds on top and near the back of the tongue. These taste buds fail to catch the taste elements in food that is hastily swallowed, with the result that our blood stream is impoverished, lacking certain elements necessary for perfect building as these taste buds are directly connected with the blood stream. It can be easily understood why chewing tobacco makes the boys very sick the first time they try to chew a plug of it, although they do not swallow any of the juice, the taste buds pick up the nicotine and inject it into the blood.

Unnatural foods are distasteful to a child because the child's natural taste has not been perverted by high powered seasoning, vinegars and many other unnatural foods. Tobacco is very distasteful to anybody and it requires much effort to be able to chew it. People living on highly seasoned foods will find some natural foods unpalatable unless they practice proper mastication until their natural taste returns, which requires about three or four weeks, at the end of which time they will notice a very decided improvement in general health. A clearness of mind and unusual endurance and plenty of wind to chase a street car, swim, hike or climb stairs and mountains.

It is a well-known fact that food taken into the stomach without chewing or masticating well, will digest about the same as so much garbage in a garbage can. This garbage cannot be expected to generate or produce a pure blood stream, without which, good health and a clear brain are not possible.

In addition to this the stomach is forced to overwork in doing the work that was meant for the teeth. This overwork of the stomach draws heavily on the blood supply, robbing the muscles and brain of their supply necessary to remain active and clear. This leaves the person who has bolted a large meal very tired and sleepy unless they drink coffee which will leave them very tired, and find it hard to get up in the morning because the stimulant has run its course in the night.

Tomorrow—Why Teeth Decay.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The decision of the war department to foster golf for army officers is a move in the right direction. The development of this game among those in charge of army activities will not only aid in the development of the officers, but will provide recreation and physical exercise of the right kind at a nominal cost.

Cutting the cost of golf is something yet to be accomplished in this country. For most army officers the expense of the game is prohibitive. Yet it is the best kind of game for those past thirty who are unable to engage in the more strenuous sports, such as baseball, wrestling, polo and tennis.

Golf, too, is a great game for bringing out the best qualities in a person. It develops sportsmanship, poise and temperament. Any army officer needs all of these qualities.

In due time special tournaments can be arranged for the army contingent. In Great Britain golf is played more by those in the service than any other game.

Golf was introduced at West Point a few years ago by Fred Canusa, popular metropolitan professional, and has made a big hit with both officers and cadets. Next to football and baseball, this game now has a

NEW YORK, April 15.—Amid the talk of Jack Dempsey proposing a 35 per cent cut for Jack Kearns, instead of 50-50 under the present arrangement if Dapper Jacques is to continue as the champion's manager, few seem to realize that nothing can be done while the present contract endures.

But this condition will not last for long as the understanding among friends of the two men is that the contract between the two men expires next month. This is the writer's idea of it, too.

So remarks attributed to Dempsey in Los Angeles relative to proposed change in his financial agreement with Kearns is looking forward to that time.

Those in New York who know both men well believe that affairs have been approaching a break ever since Jack got engaged and they are certain that if Dempsey is really serious in handing Kearns the sma' ends of future splits, the break will be effected.

If this happens, the whole question of the debt of gratitude that a fighter owes a manager will be thoroughly overhauled.

Kearns made Dempsey without any doubt. When Tommy Simpson, of Oakland, sent Dempsey to Jack in the early days, the present title holder was a third rater. But Kearns was keen enough to see the promise of the young fellow and brought him along, keeping Dempsey in the game at times when Jack was partly well discouraged with his outlook.

Kearns secured prizes for him such as no previous champion ever dreamed, having first won Tex Rickard's interest as a promoter. Between the two they have made a million dollars and by careful investment both are well fixed.

Whether as a result of all that Dempsey is obliged to Kearns for larger following at the academy than any other.

as long a time as he remains in the ring, is a matter that will be argued pro and con.

As for Dempsey his life has pretty much changed with his marriage. Mrs. Dempsey is credited with having a good business head of her own and there is talk that she and Kearns are not so friendly as one might expect in the case of the best friend of a husband. Still, this may be only the gossip that is bound to travel among fighting circles.

RUTH TO APPEAR IN GAME MONDAY

Presence Of Babe In Lineup Causes Other Players To Forget Stuff

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 15.—According to estimates furnished gratis for what they might be worth, by the New York Yankee management, Babe Ruth will doff the pajamas and don the cleated brogans on or about Monday of next week. He will return to the lineup not later than next Wednesday or Thursday and it will be a great thing for the box office and Babe Ruth. Whether it will reflect to the benefit of the ball club, individually, is a question that practical baseball men today were inclined to dispute.

Through no fault of his own, Ruth's presence in the Yankee lineup seems to have a depressing effect on the rest of the outfit. Its morale under the circumstances, appears to have something in common with the ballet that flits about in the immediate rear of Pavlov. Having no hope of conquering the limelight with the incomparable one, they often fail to do themselves justice.

The Yanks are much the same. They lean on Ruth's ability to such an extent that some demiguns coined the catch line, to wit: "As Ruth goes, so go—the Yankees."

The truth of this phrase is so starkly apparent that it has lived on down through the years of the Yankee's greatest successes. If Ruth has a bad day, it is all too seldom that some inspired Yankee steps out with a mitigating performance. They are aggravated victims of the inferiority complex.

Yet, when the noble fellow is flat on his back and the Yanks are on their own, what then? They usually play great baseball, the kind of baseball of which men like Meusel, Pipp, Ward, Dugan, Scott and others are capable. They did this yesterday in beating the champions, 5 to 1, with Ruth no nearer the scene of action than the private ward of a hospital. His understudy, Ben Paschal, even went so far as to smite a hom.

Would he have done the same if Ruth had fanned several moments earlier? I doubt it.

Without Big Babe As a matter of fact the Yanks never played better ball than the first six weeks of the 1922 season when the great man was in exile for having flouted the authority of Judge Landis. Forgetting Ruth, they remembered themselves and topped the field with their makeshift array. If I remember correctly, Chick Fawcett, filling in for Ruth, socked a home run in the opening game just as Paschal did yesterday.

Then Ruth returned and the Yanks stepped back into character. They became pretty much the one man ball club, in attitude if not in actuality.

This, by way, is no part of a knock at Ruth. In hitting, run scoring and driving in runs, he does as much for his club as one man could humanly do. But that is the trouble. He does so much that the rest of the club seems to have fallen into the attitude of "Let George do it" and George does.

ATTENDANCE LARGE

Those who claimed the O'Connell scandal would affect the popularity of baseball might do well to scan the attendance figures at yesterday's openings. Nearly a quarter of a million fans at eight games, exceeding last year's figures by almost 20,000. And in not a few cities the weather was far from cheerful.

GETS FIRST HOMER

Ben Paschal, understudy of Ruth, produced a typical Ruthian swat in the sixth inning with one swing, clinching the Yank's 5 to 1 decision over the Senators. Urban Shocker, playing the role of prodigal son, pitched the Senators dizzy.

BRAVES BEAT GIANTS

Pupil beat master when the Braves of Dave Bancroft trimmed the Giants of John McGraw, 5 to 4. The Giants had the tying run on third in the ninth but Barnes, ex-Giant, mowed down the next two hitters.

RUN AROUND ROSY

Shades of Adrian Anson! The Indians got twelve runs in one inning and scored a grocer's picnic victory over the Browns, 21 to 14. Sisler obliged with four errors and McManus and Bennett three each.

NOTED ARTIST EXPIRES IN LONDON

J. Singer Sargent, Famous
Portrait Painter, Dies
Suddenly At Night

LONDON, April 15.—John Singer Sargent, famous portrait painter, died at his Chelsea home here today a few hours after suffering a stroke. He was 69 years old.

The painter retired at his usual hour last night after an active day at his work. The maid carrying his breakfast to him this morning found him dead. Physicians who examined the body decided that Sargent died about 3 o'clock as the result of an apopleptic seizure.

A consultation was held with the coroner to decide whether an inquest would be necessary. It is believed his body will be cremated and the ashes taken to America.

Peculiar Tragedy
Sargent's death was lent a peculiar tragedy by falling on the eve of his departure for his first trip to his home land in many years. It would have been a virtual repatriation of the celebrated artist. He had been without an American passport for years, but only recently went to the American consulate and filled out his papers and secured a passport. Although he was an American citizen, for years he had been a self-exile. Sargent, son of a Boston physician, became the most famous portrait painter of his day. He was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856, and was educated in Italy and France.

It is difficult to believe, however, that people fifty years from now will sigh for the old songs that were popular in 1923.

FISHING CENTER SHIFTS TO WEST

Los Angeles Harbor Leads
New England Coast
Statistics Show

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Not all of the romance of the men who make their living by the sea and its ships, lies in Gloucester, for according to records of 1924 just furnished the state fish and game commission from the various centers of the fishing industry, Los Angeles harbor takes its place as the new fisherman's capital of the continent.

Boston with its New England banks, famed for years as one of the most noted fishery points in the world, has lost its lead to Los Angeles, both in the pounds of fish handled and in the money value of the product, according to its own figures. The comparison is shown as follows:
Los Angeles, 159,649,560 lbs.; value, $6,923,476.
Boston, 124,215,034 lbs.; value, $5,433,731.

Ten years ago the fishery business of the entire Pacific coast amounted to 49,366,000 pounds annually. That represents less than one-third of what the Los Angeles fishery industry alone amounted to last year.

Other Statistics
Still more interesting is the fact that four years ago the fishery industry of the entire United States, exclusive of the Pacific coast, amounted to 163,362,000 pounds which was only a trifle more than the output for Los Angeles alone in 1924.

If one considers only the fish placed in cans for the market, it is found that Los Angeles furnished last year practically one-half of fish for every two inhabitants of the United States, or in other words, 55,373,766 cans ranging in size from quarter pound to one pound cans. This pack is divided as follows:
As by-products of the fishing industry there were 1,019,924 gallons of fish oil, 499,250 pounds of sardines and 7,450 tons of fertilizer.

ROADS WILL OPEN SALINE COUNTRY

Eleven Miles Of Highway To Make Valley Available
To Prospectors

BISHOP, April 15.—Saline valley situated to the east of Owens lake, will be made accessible to prospectors by the action of the county board of supervisors in appropriating $20,000 to construct an eleven-mile road connecting with the Keeler-Darwin highway.

Access to this district at present is possible only over forbidding and dangerous trails. In the valley, which is the bed of a prehistoric sea, is an expanse sixteen by eight miles covered with deep deposits of crystallized salt, shown by analysis to be 99.7 per cent pure.

In the desert mountains adjacent gold and silver ores have been located, but absence of roads renders development impracticable.

The local delegation was headed by President William Baker, and R. E. Johnston and D. Ripley Jackson, past presidents.

SOUTHWEST CROP PLAYS LARGE ROLE

Four States With California
Included Supply 27 Per Cent Of Produce

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The group of states including California, Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona supply 27 per cent of the fresh fruits and vegetables of the nation, shipping to market in a single year more than 250,000 carloads. The total for the year 1923 was 213,000 carloads.

The group including Florida and the entire South, and also Texas and Kansas in the year, shipped 237,000 carloads. The California group production of fruits and vegetables has grown from 110,000 carloads seven years ago to 250,000 carloads, an increase of about 125 per cent. The southern group has increased its production from 147,000 carloads in 1918 to 237,000 making a gain of about 60 per cent. In other words, the California Real Estate association research bureau finds, California's production of vineyard, orchard and garden stuffs is increasing twofold rapidly as that of the entire south.

Last Year's Crop

Last year California, in a year of low production, produced 218,000 carloads of fruits and vegetables, to which must be added the crops of Arizona and New Mexico, making the yearly total for the southwestern group again around 250,000 carloads. The total carload shipments from California last year as shown by figures supplied to the State association by the U. S. Department of Agriculture was as follows:

Grapes, 55,332 carloads; oranges, 44,767; lettuce, 19,330; cantaloupes, 18,216; lemons, 13,554; peaches, 7,245; dried prunes, 6,845; pears, 6,194; potatoes, 5,822; watermelons, 4,135; apples, 3,296; mixed vegetables, 4,207; deciduous fruit, 4,057; celery, 3,965; cauliflower, 3,248; onions, 3,235; tomatoes, 2,720; dry beans, 2,191; casabas, etc., 1,541; plums, 1,539; dried peaches, 1,509; citrus fruits, 1,465; cherries, 876; asparagus, 657; sweet peas, 455; grapefruit, 442; cabbage, 369; dried apples, 347; strawberries, 190; carrots, 166; spinach, 94; peppers, 84; green beans, 26; cucumbers, 22; total, 218,869 carloads.

Versatility Shown

Showing the versatility of California soil and climate, the heavy shipments of grapes were in September, oranges in April, lettuce in February, lemons in May and cantaloupes in June. It would require a train 2,060 miles long reaching from San Francisco almost to Chicago to convey the fruits and vegetables of California farms to market.

The production of 218,000 carloads comes from approximately 120,000 California farms or almost two carloads per farm to market. The above figures do not include the domestic consumption.

The most valuable crop in California is alfalfa, and second in value in market is oranges. The dairy cow is declared to be of greater importance to the development of the state than any single industry.

QUAKES CAUSE OF LOSS IN ANTIQUES

Hungarians Burn Priceless
Heirlooms In Penance
To Stop Tremors

MEZOKOVESD, Hungary, April 15.—Family treasures and heirlooms have been offered up here, in penance, by panic-stricken citizens, alarmed by the recent series of earthquakes.

Priests urged the villagers to bring out their festival garments—richly embroidered family heirlooms handed down for many generations—and to burn them on a gigantic bonfire in the market place.

Twenty thousand peasants gathered, many with tears streaming down their cheeks, to watch their treasured heirlooms going up in smoke.

Since the Middle Ages this form of penance has been indulged in throughout Hungary and has resulted in the loss of many priceless antiques.

Plan New School In Verdugo Woodlands

A school with at least the first elementary grades will be established in Verdugo Woodlands next September, following a petition for the institution presented to the Board of Education last night by a committee representing residents of the Sparr Heights district. The committee, comprised of Thomas W. Watson, M. Walters and J. M. Hicks, advised the board that suitable quarters will be provided to house the school.

Chautauqua tickets cannot be sold by students of Glendale schools this year, according to an announcement by Superintendent of Schools R. D. White, who obtained a ruling recently from County Superintendent Mark Koppel. Collection of funds or sale of tickets for any purpose by students is a violation of the state law, the board was told.

The Masonic bodies of Glendale were granted the use of the auditorium of the Glendale Union High school for one night in May, when a program will be presented during public schools week.

If the brain leaves considerable parking space inside the skull, the germ of swellhead will find it sooner or later.

HEADLESS GHOST APPEARS IN CAMP

Lumberjack In Great North
Woods Certifies to Weird Critter

HARTLAND, N. B., April 15.—Around the campfires in the Great North Woods lumbermen are telling the story of the "Headless Ghost."

It's a story that rivals fiction and, perhaps, it is fiction, but the lumberjacks, who claim to have seen and talked with the spectre say emphatically that the story is true in every detail.

As far as can be learned, the tale of the "Headless Ghost" started with a lumberjack from a lumbering operation near the waters of the Nashua River. The lumberjack said that about dusk he went to a well a short distance from camp to water his horses. After drawing a pail of water, he beheld the form of the "Headless Ghost," which arose out of the well and hovered over it.

"Ghost" Appeared
Terrified at what he had seen, the lumberjack dropped the pail and ran for the camp. His campfellows laughed at him. When his courage returned, the lumberjack took an axe and returned to the old well.

Once again he drew up a pail of water, and once again the "Headless Ghost" appeared. The woodsman made a savage dash at it with his axe and struck—nothing but air.

Again the lumberman started to retreat. But this time a voice said: "Stop! No harm will come to you."

The voice, said the lumberjack, apparently came from the chest of the "Headless Ghost."

BOHEMIANS SAVE UP FOR RAINY DAY

Artists, Composers Of Noted
Colony Prepare For Greeting Wolf

PRAGUE, April 15.—Here in the capital of Bohemia, there has been made the first serious effort to offset the thriftlessness and improvidence of those who are frequently styled "Bohemians"—artists and writers.

The Czech ministry of education is proposing a measure, which provides novel old-age pensions and sickness insurance for writers and composers.

There is no compulsion about the scheme, but writers and composers would be invited to participate in it. A writer at the age of 24 would pay $1 a month for a guaranteed annuity of $400 at 55. A similar scheme has been in operation since last year for the benefit of both painters and sculptors, and 123 artists have taken advantage of it. For a slightly increased premium an annuity is guaranteed to the artist's widow.

The actuarial basis of the scheme is such that the pensions are partly in the nature of a subsidy.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service
NEW YORK, April 15.—Aggressive forward movements in the motor, industrial and some of the railroad stocks, a broader public participation in the stock market and easier tendencies in the money market, as evidenced by the reduction in rates of bankers' acceptances and commercial paper, were the outstanding features of the financial markets today.

After prices had been swept forward at the start of the session, there was considerable profit-taking, particularly in stocks which have traveled 10 to 30 points in the last ten days. But offerings dried up when professionals resumed selling pressure, and the market thereafter was somewhat inactive. Commission houses reported extensive short covering in industrials, in some of which the short interest was reported to be unusually large.

Foreign developments were entirely ignored. Industrial news was somewhat better, the outstanding developments being the increase in railroad freight traffic, the slight decline in operations of the steel and textile mills, the firming up of gasoline prices, and the easier market for fuel oils. Grain markets lost a good portion of their recent advance, while cotton firmed up after a poor start.

The Southwestern railroad consolidation was a more interesting topic in the stock market than the Nickel Plate hearing, which started in Washington today. Stocks of the southwest roads, including Kansas City Southern, City and Missouri Pacific, were unusually active as compared with a few weeks ago, while the Van Sweringen rails hardly appeared on the tape.

Interest in the motor stock was well maintained and price movements were distinctly upward. Mack Trucks and General Motors headed the list, but at least a dozen of the well-known motor and motor accessory stocks sold at the best prices for the current movement.

Profit-taking was absorbed without any great defect in prices and the market was ready to resume the advance in the last hour. United States Steel was active and strong in this period, recovering its early losses and advancing to 117 1/2, a new high for the movement. Early weakness was caused by the mid-week summary of the steel market, which forecast a "drifting market for some weeks."

Stock sales, 1,124,800 shares; bonds, $13,794,000.

UNIQUE TRAVELER IN QUEER TURN

North India Fanatic 'Falls'
His Way To Sacred
City Of Gya

CALCUTTA, April 15.—Although the many forms in which the fanatical religious devotion of the Northern India sects shows itself are well known, a worshiper recently passed through the hill station of Kalimpong on his way to the sacred city of Gya who excited more than usual interest by reason of his means of progression. He was covering the distance from the Central plains of India to Tibet by measuring his own length upon the ground.

He had protectors on his hands and knees, and his method was to raise his hands, let himself fall full length on the road with hands outstretched, put himself up to the point his fingertips had reached, rise upright again and so repeat the performance.

Seven Years' Work
When night fell he drew a mark on the road, went to the nearest habitation for food and rest and resumed his journey in the morning. He was covered with dust and an ugly mark showed upon his forehead where he had constantly struck the ground.

He said he had been seven years on his journey and probably would take another seven years before he reached the object of his religious devotion.

WOMAN 13 YEARS NUN IS ENGAGED

Pennsylvania Girl Renounces
Vows, Then Meets Man
Who Wins Her

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
HAVERFORD, Pa., April 15.—Thirteen years of the secluded life of a convent, thirteen years away from men and friendships and life's ordinary pleasures—even these can't keep a woman's fancy from turning sharply to "thoughts of love," given spring and freedom.

Now there's Maria Hirst, tall, slender and strikingly handsome. With dark eyes that still seem serious, although she has an infectious smile. Fourteen years ago she took her first vows to become a nun and so renounced all thought of love—except that of God.

Ten months ago she was released. She met a man. And today she is announcing her engagement to Webb Levering, prominent Baltimore banker, whose family is well known.

For thirteen years Maria Hirst hid her beauty in the cloisters of the Order of the Sacred Heart. She taught children at Eden Hall, the Sacred Heart school at Torresdale, Pa., and the convent where she was educated and inspired to be a nun. For thirteen years she saw no man except Pope Pius XI in Rome who heard her take her vows of poverty, chastity and obedience, a priest or two, and the parents of a few of her pupils.

Suddenly Free
And then suddenly she was free. She had told the pope and a priest that she felt she was not cut out to be a nun. She had been an outdoor girl. Her health would not stand convent life. Last June the papers releasing her were in her hands. And she took her place in the world.

There was nothing romantic about her meeting with Webb Levering. They were both guests at a house party in Baltimore, where he was to be her tennis partner. They played well together. Later they found they heard concerts and saw plays well together. And with the irresistible spring, their thoughts turned to the usual thing. They are engaged—although Maria Hirst left the convent quite expecting to keep forever the one of her vows which pertains to never being married.

"But, you see, the spring came," she said. "And, with spring, I guess I fully realized that I was just a woman."
And now she's busy cramming each day just as full as she can cram it with automobile jaunts, luncheon parties, tennis, golf, bridge parties and dinner affairs.

Sisters Praised
"I had thought it would be strange to be in the world again after living in seclusion for so long," she admitted after a spin in her "faunt" speedster. "I thought it would be queer to be driving a car, playing tennis and golf, and riding horseback, going to theatres and the like. But my thirteen years away from it all fell from me as completely as though they'd never been."
"It is so natural to be hurrying about, having a good time, planning for the future and the rest. You see, I had grown up that way. We always had ponies for me to ride, and there was always something to do. I was about to make my debut when I decided to enter the sisterhood."

GOTHAM'S EASTER FASHIONS NOTED

Coolidge Gray Not So Good
If New Yorkers Are Good Judges

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
NEW YORK, April 15.—Crowds assembled and ensembled on Fifth and Park avenues Sunday but they did not mix. The distinction between the two streets could only be described in one way. One was sedate and the other was seductive. The people of fashion who really counted wore the most conservative of costumes. The breakers-in did not conform to that conservatism but the newspaper photographers—a cold blooded crowd—caught the quiet gowns rather than the loud ones.

Nearly everyone expected a blue easter. But if one wanted to know "where the blue begins," it must have been somewhere east of the twelve mile limit. It was possible, however, for almost everyone got a black look and a red nose anywhere within two blocks of Fifth avenue.

Some of the designers put their faith and their money into "moonstone gray." This shade was supposed to have been sponsored by Mrs. Coolidge and it was believed would rival the Alice blue and the Harding blue of the Roosevelt and Harding administrations in popularity. Its reception, however, was like the description of the president's shoes, to which the White House had objected, half souled. The designers did not feel badly about it, however, for the gowns were sold.

Sheer Nonsense
Credit was shorter than most of the skirts and that kept many a parader away from Fifth avenue. Stockings were sheer, and sheer nonsense cost many a provider a good sized check before he was forced into his long tailed coat and hung his frankly decorated feminine members of his family on his left arm.

Hats, in the majority of instances were broad—far broader than the brows beneath them, but more than one called for a pointed remark. The majority of women showed the remarkable sense of proportion possessed by the American woman and were quietly and tastefully dressed. Of course there was the usual proportion of freaks. One woman in black satin pajamas attempted to get into a Fifth avenue church. She was gently but firmly repressed.

Color was undoubtedly in evidence, but the best dressed women in New York seen Sunday wore the quietest clothes. Tailored suits and the long, dark, fur bordered silk coats, were thoroughly in evidence.

CHINESE COOLIES ASK BETTER FOOD

Two Thousand Strike; Place
Lack Of 'Joss Days'
As Grievance

HONG KONG, April 15.—Demanding an increase of 60 cents weekly for barber's allowance, a 10 per cent increase of pay forever, and many other smaller demands, 2000 coolies employed on the docks here have gone on strike.

Officially known as packers, the coolies' business is to sew up sugar bags; and among their grievances are insufficient food, frequent non-observance of Joss days (which, in China, occur practically every week) and bad living conditions.

The strike seems bound to last a long time, for the employers are adamant and it is a proverbial fact that a coolie can live for months on almost nothing, so that the fact that he has no money coming in will not trouble him.

mentary Law club of Glendale, sent a most inspiring report to the convention. The report is to be presented by Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, who is representing the club, and also the Tuesday Afternoon club. The report includes such features as: Inspiration of belonging to district, state and general federations; entertainment of Mrs. Charles H. Toll and making her an honorary member; receiving the certificate of membership in the general federation, signed by Mrs. John D. Sherman; work done by department, philanthropic work, giving of $30 to bring Christmas cheer to a widow and her family; pledging and payment of $50 to the Y. M. C. A. building fund. Mrs. Greenwalt also incorporated in her report: "The aim of the club is the study of advanced parliamentary law. The lessons serve as a clearing house for members, the majority of whom serve as officers in clubs, parent-teacher associations, lodges and societies. Members often come many miles to bring problems, which are always satisfactorily solved." Roberts' "Rules of Order," revised; Roberts' "Parliamentary Law," and Mrs. Gleason's "Parliamentary Digest" are the texts. The club takes no vacations. There are now over sixty members, and the first class will be graduated in June. Dues are $1 a year, and the invitation is general. Requirements are that members attend regularly, buy a book and study.

OLDTIME EATING PLACE LOCKED UP

Famous Mouquin's, Where
Notables Dined, Victim
Of 'Dry' Law

NEW YORK, April 15.—Father Knickerbocker, venturing forth this balmy month of April in quest of the best in cuisine, finds Mouquin's, for sixty-seven years one of his favorite eating places, securely padlocked for violation of the Volstead act.

"I remember well Henri Mouquin when he came to New York from Switzerland," said Father Knickerbocker. "He is near 91 years old now, rich and living in comfort on his farm in the green fields of Virginia. His grandchildren conduct the restaurant now. When first I knew him he was peddling wine and vinegar—which he made himself—on a pushcart through the streets of New York."

"Soon he had a restaurant in a basement in Nassau street. And before long all Manhattan was talking about artichokes. Madame Mouquin had invented a new dish for us. Then, while our amazement still was profound, she gave Manhattan onion soup au gratin. Delicious!"

Famous Dishes
"Then came bouillabaisse. Madame Mouquin was the first to introduce it north of the Mason and Dixon line. French sea captains would come to Mouquin's for bouillabaisse. They would say: 'Never, Monsieur and Madame Mouquin, have I tasted such bouillabaisse; no, not in Marseilles, or even in New Orleans itself.'"

"Often would that illustrious journalist, Charles Dana, drop in at Mouquin's. In his meticulous way he would order a vegetable, two slices of brown bread, a salad and a small glass of vin rouge."

"Horace Greeley, too, would come down from his editorial desk at The Tribune and absent-mindedly order food and absent-mindedly forget to eat it. Henri would say to him, aggrieved: 'I do not understand, Mr. Greeley. The food, he is not good?'"

"Then there was Whitelaw Reid, owner with Greeley of The Tribune, and later ambassador to England; General Arthur, Henry Ward Beecher, William Cullen Bryant, the poet-editor, and John Hay, the poet-statesman."

men at a matinee theatre party at the Dobinson playhouse, and dinner later in the banquet hall. This affair is being planned in co-operation with the Red Cross, American Legion post and Legion Auxiliary.

In pleading the cause of the American Indian, Mr. Chubbuck declared that "the great difficulty with Indian welfare work is the spreading of false information. It is usually the white man's side of the story that is told, not the Indian's." He read data proving that the condition of the Indians at Palm Springs is not as bad as pictured by those misinformed.

At the afternoon meeting the annual election next month was anticipated in the selection of members of the nominating committee. Mesdames William Hunter, Emil Johnson and Roger Bentley were selected to serve with Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman and Mrs. Lillian Dow, chosen by the executive board.

Amendment Change
Mrs. H. V. Henry served as parliamentarian yesterday, as Mrs. Bartlett is attending the northern convention. An amendment to the by-laws changing the time of polling at the election to 10 to 2 o'clock, was read for the first time.

Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, chairman of ways and means, presented the treasurer with a check for $1000. Alexander Mitchell, representing the Glendale Humane society, spoke on "Be Kind to Animals Week," April 19 to 24.

Among announcements made were meeting of music department a week from Friday, when the program will be given by members. Mesdames Frank Arnold, Virginia Freeman, G. H. Horne, Walter Kirkby, W. B. MacMullin, Laura Jennings Burris and others; an emblem breakfast May 13 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Campbell, reservations to be made by May 11 with Mrs. E. A. Carr, emblem chairman; meeting of Bible department next Tuesday; Shakespeare department program, Monday afternoon, April 20 at the clubhouse.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Basil Clark, advocate of peace, who spoke to the club two years ago in the Masonic temple. Yesterday she gave an eloquent address on "Look to the Parents," declaring that the universal peace depends on education of the rising generation.

Famous Hangman Dies Jobless In Austria

VIENNA, April 15.—Josef Lang is dead. Lang was rated by some as the champion hangman. Before the war Lang had little opportunity to exercise his calling, but his career was given great impetus in 1914 by the declaration of war. Military justice was cut loose, and Lang was called upon to hang numberless victims, sentenced for political reasons, many of them undoubtedly innocent. It is said that he executed a hundred persons in Bosnia alone.

Mary Takes Her Lamb To School For Class

Although it was much against the rule, Mary took her Little Lamb to school, and today in recognition of "Be Kind to Animals Week," Broadway school was transformed into a veritable Noah's ark for the annual pet show. Pet dogs, cats, chickens, parrots, canaries, rabbits, guinea pigs and other pets were present for roll call. Mother cats and families of babies purred contentedly in classroom corners; a chuckling little bantam rooster and noisy little hen wondered what it was all about; parrots and canaries galore chattered all day long; while rabbits and guinea pigs took it all as a matter of course.

As for all manner of bowwows, the day seemed doggone long for all concerned and upon decision of Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, principal, all dogs were enrolled as part time pupils and were dismissed at noon.

Club Woman Honored For 'Movie' Activity

Mrs. E. S. McKee of Glendale, chairman of motion pictures for the Tuesday Afternoon club, received mention of her work, from Mrs. Grace Frye, district chairman in her report given this morning at the district convention in session at Santa Barbara, reported in a telegram to The Glendale Evening News by Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., first vice-president of the three local motion picture theatres and establishment of school children's matinees at two of the theatres.
